Optimists respect law

FARMINGTON—"Respect for Law Week" will be held in Farmington, May 1-7. This annual event is sponsored by the Optimist Club of Farmington and focuses on the related year-round activities of the 118,000 member voluntary service organization.

Through the Respect for Law program, Optimist clubs in the United States and Canada have been encouraging citizens to become actively involved in combating crime. Respect for the law, Optimists say, comes about through establishing full cooperation between citizens and their local law enforcement officers.

Since the international organization began sponsorship of the program seven years ago, they have been trying to combat disrespect for the law and public apathy toward crime.

Harrison students plan forensics show

FARMINGTON HILLS—Harrison High School students will hold their third annual "Forensics Show" 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 21, in the auditorium and focuses on the related year-round activities of the 118,000 member voluntary service organization.

Students will perform examples of the types of speaking which won them 16 trophies in tournaments, invitational and regional meets, including storytelling, interpretive reading, and informative and humorous speeches.

Students participating will be John D'Agullo, Joe Benedict, Bret Blanchard, Ron Blatt, Russ Foss, Karl Groll, Liz Kaplan and Debbie Kim.

PIERSON Interiors

Dear Customer:

In February and again in March, we presented you with a letter explaining and outlining the merits of a model being shown at Wal-Mart on Leary Lake Road between Telegraph and Middlebelt Roads.

These models built by Ed Johns and very much completed by our designers are being retained in quality that customers and friends who have visited are coming back again and again.

Warner to program career awareness

FARMINGTON—Eight graders at Warner Junior High School will take part in a pilot program on career awareness during May.

Designed for minimal disruption to other classes, the program will give 250 students nine hours of career study throughout an eight-week period.

Students will have an orientation and preliminary career study followed by the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey and the opportunity to hear four of 10 speakers.

They will have career orientation at Walled Lake Vocational Center, Detroit Diesel, Mt. Sinai Hospital, and Kresge World Headquarters.
