

Temple will host a variety of meals

The Masonic Temple Association of Farmington will sponsor a wide variety of meals and activities in conjunction with the 11th annual Farmington Founders Festival.

The Masonic Temple, whose building at Grand River and Farmington Road has long been a landmark and a symbol of Farmington, will sponsor seven different types of meals, as well as a luncheon card party and a traditional Crafters Corners. All the events will be at the Temple.

While there is a charge for the meals and the Crafters Corners display items are for sale, the public is welcome to browse.

Beginning Sunday, July 20, with a chicken barbeque from noon to 6 p.m., the Masonic Temple Association schedule includes: a salad luncheon and card party Wednesday, beginning at 11:30 a.m.; a pastry supper that same evening from 5-7:30 p.m.; an old-fashioned smorgasbord Thursday, also from 5-7:30 p.m., and a fish dinner Friday at the same hours.

All are sponsored by the Masonic Temple Association, with the exception of the smorgasbord, which will be sponsored by the Trinity White Shrine, which also will sponsor the Sunday morning, July 27, pancake breakfast.

Saturday, July 26, from 5 until 7:30 p.m., the Jobs Daughters Association of the temple will sponsor a ham dinner.

Throughout the festival, the Trinity White Shrine's Crafters Corners, which has become an institution at each Founders Festival, will be open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

The old Masonic Temple has become the site of the Farmington Chamber of Commerce offices.
