

Weitz whips wool into a tailored sport coat.

The leisure suit from John Weitz comes in easy-to-care-for polyester.

For fall Weitz revives vests

Vests, patch-pockets, rope shoulders and good looks arrive for fall from menswear designer John Weitz. The season sees Weitz designs in solids and checks, wool serges and an occasional but good looking polyester for those ready-to-go, easy-to-clean leisure suits. Weitz vests make a fashion statement on their own, demonstrating the versatility and coordination a vest adds to the traditional two-piece suit. Reversible or one-way, vests accent and complement at the same time. Details are also important in the fall collection. Special care is given to shoulders, vests are deep-centered, waists are suppressed to add contour, lapels are wide and buttons serve both functional and aesthetic purposes. For the sophisticate, Weitz designs a reverse vested suit with color coordinated trousers. In polyester the suit features tone-on-tone contrast stitching. Change the pants and the suit become a more casual sport coat and pant ensemble.

ANOTHER LOOK of elegance for men comes in pure wool and totally color coordinated right down to the lining. With a vest to match, Weitz provides that totally business look for the office. For more comfortable days wool again takes the lead in a subtly checked sport coat in heather tones of blue and beige. Beige also plays a role in the leisure-time suit, this one in polyester with four patch-flap pockets, a shirt-type collar and deep center vent. The Weitz collection promises to be just the beginning of an all-new and exciting season in the men's line-up. Men's clothes are finally becoming more tailored, less chunky and definitely better looking than in past years.

à la mode

Weitz tailors polyester into a versatile suit with vest, jacket and color coordinated odd trousers.

Come, let Pauline Trigrère go to your head with her new hair fashions Totally Trigrère, that's the beautiful way you can go now. Pauline Trigrère has taken it from the top for us and created a trio of designs for what she considers a woman's most important accessory, her hair. The result is a total fashion look, smooth, easy, the way dressing is going today; elegant, the way the going always is with Pauline Trigrère.

Choose your couture coiffure

For day into evening, top left, sleek, off-the-face waves molded into a little cloche look that's perfect with big collaring. Bottom left, a graceful new twist for the classic chignon. The flow and float of waves combed gently back accents the evening's glamor, bottom right. Ready to be custom created for you in our Beauty Salon. Call for an appointment.

Get all the Trigrèrismes we have for you.

Don't miss the exquisite new Pauline Trigrère collection of gowns and sensational dressing for Fall. See them in Troy, Wednesday and Thursday, August 6 and 7. In Detroit, Friday and Saturday, August 8 and 9. Informal modeling, 11 to 4, Regency Room.

Saks Fifth Avenue

Detroit, Second at Lothrop, open Thursdays until 8:30 P.M. Troy, Somerset Mall, Big Beaver at Coolidge, open Thursdays and Fridays until 9 P.M.

The vest plays a major role in many designs, adding more elegance to the traditional suit.

Fashion calendar

- Aug. 6-7—Informal modeling of the Pierre D'Alby collection at Claire Pearone, Somerset Mall, Troy.
- Aug. 7—"Express Yourself," a modeling of fall fashions in conjunction with Seventeen Magazine will take place at 6:30 p.m. at Hudson's, Northland.
- Aug.—Bonwit Teller presents fall fashions at 7 p.m. in Somerset Mall, Troy.
- Aug. 11-12—Personal appearance by Bernard Perris with his fall collection at Claire Pearone, Somerset Mall, Troy.
- Aug. 14—A formal showing of bridal and trousseau fashions for fall and winter at 7:30 p.m. at Jacobson's, Birmingham.
- Aug. 14-16—Personal appearance by Larry Aldrich with his fall collection at Claire Pearone, Somerset Mall, Troy.
- For consideration of listings write: Fashion calendar, Observer & Eccentric, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham 48012.