

Community Calendar

VAN CLIBURN
 Saturday, Aug. 23: Bus leaves the Farmington Community Center at 7:15 p.m. for the performance of Van Cliburn at Meadowbrook. Package priced tickets include transportation and a seat in the pavilion. Reservations are necessary, through the center.

I WANT TO BE ME
 Saturday, Aug. 23: "I Want to Be Me," fashion show for juniors in Crowley's Farmington store, 4 p.m. The show will be preceded by make-up demonstrations beginning at 12:30 p.m.

HAIR STYLING
 Sunday, Aug. 24: Several Oakland County hair styling salons, including the "Our Place Salon" in Farmington Hills, will do benefit hair styling for the March of Dimes.

Customers will be able to get a styled cut and blow dry, with the entire cost going to the charity's campaign against birth defects.

Salons in Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Rochester, Troy, West Bloomfield, Clawson and Farmington Hills will open their doors from noon to 6 p.m. for the first of what may be an annual "Cut-A-Thon" for March of Dimes.

Participating salons encourage appointments, although walk-ins will be welcome.

DELIVERANCE
 Thursday, Aug. 28: The Farmington branch of the Farmington Public Library will hold its next book discussion on "Deliverance" by James Dickey at 7:30 p.m. No charge.

PANCAKE BREAKFAST
 Sunday, Aug. 31: The Farmington Masonic Temple will sponsor a pancake breakfast from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The menu includes juice, pancakes, eggs, potatoes, meat and coffee. The Masonic Temple is at the corner of Farmington and Grand River.

Working with the Farmington YMCA's "Kid-die Kamp," Jackie Krause shows some of her charges the right way to glue Popsicle sticks together.

College degree program opens here for adults

Wayne State University and local public libraries have teamed up to bring a four year college degree program to area adults.

The special program is designed for working adults and homemakers who want to earn a college degree but can't find the time to do it in the traditional way. Seventeen suburban libraries are scheduled to join in the Wayne-Library consortium.

The participating library in this area is The Farmington Community Library, 32737 Twelve Mile Rd.

Students will meet with a university instructor in workshops of 15 to 20 students held once a week in the library, watch television courses at home each day, and attend a weekend conference on Wayne's campus twice each quarter. That's the basic format of the University Studies and Weekend College program, now completing its second full year of operation and serving more than 2,300 full-time adult students. US/WC is a division of Wayne's College of Lifelong Learning.

THE COLLEGE degree program is divided into four years of study. Students take a year of the social sciences or urban studies, a year of urban humanities, and a year of science and technology.

Upon completion of these years of study, students take an advanced studies year in which they pursue their specialization and synthesize the learning of the first three years. After accumulating 180 academic credit hours, which can be accomplished in four or five years, students are awarded a Bachelor of General Studies Degree.

Television courses, an integral part of the educational design, are produced by Wayne State and are aired each day on channels 2, 4, 7, and 56 in the early morning hours, early evenings, and repeated on weekends. Each TV course is shown in half-hour segments daily throughout an 11 week quarter.

The course of study is fully approved for veterans. Many business and government organizations underwrite tuition costs for their employees through educational assistance programs.

Registration at The Farmington Community Library will be on Aug. 27 and Sept. 22, at 6-8 p.m. The fall quarter begins Sept. 22.
