Should Be Glad.

The man who gets angry about what a newspaper prints of himself should return thanks a dozen times each day for what a newspaper knows of him and suppresses. Any fool can find things to print in a newspaper, but it takes a wise newspaper to find things to keep out.

It is generally supposed that newspapers print everything they can find out that is anywhere near fit to print, but that is a mistaken idea. The average country newspaper refrains from publishing many things that pass for news because it would reflect on the character or reputation of some individual, and indirectly on his family and the town.

And this reminds us, and we presume other newspapers have noticed it, that if anything happens to get into the paper that does not please some subscriber—and we have known of such cases where the offended person has not and never had a subscriber—it does not take long for the person to let the editor know about it. On the other hand a newspaper may say all kinds of good things about this same person, and throw bouquets promiscuously at others yet not once in a hundred times will the compliment be noted of the editor.

This goes to show that people take too much as a matter of course. A newspaper is expected to speak well of everybody in the town, and to do a lot of hard work for "the good of the cause" if it costs nothing to run a newspaper—so too many seem to think it is fortunate that most publishers are public spirited citizens. They do much without hope of reward on earth content if they see good accomplished through their efforts.

State Reward Roads Question

The last report of the good roads commissioner shows that the northern counties of the state are taking the most active interest in the good roads movement, and to them is going by far the larger portion of the state reward, rewards of which the more densely populated southern counties pay the larger portion.

This is because the southern counties are chary of their road taxes, and are doing but little road building in proportion to their wealth and population, when compared with the northern counties.

The northern counties have been quick to see the advantage offered them by the state reward system and profit by it. So they are building good roads that will last for all time if properly cared for, and getting back from the state about one-third of the cost of their roads.

Counties in northern parts of the state are getting back every year in road rewards more money than they pay into the state treasury for state taxes. And the southern counties fret the bill.

State Treasurer Sleeper made the second loan of $25,000 as authorized by the state board of auditors, securing the money from the People's State bank of 1st street at three per cent.

While only 124 telephone companies in Michigan report annually to the auditor general's department the state tax commission has located enough more to bring the total up to 786, but 500 or 600 of these will be eliminated as their receipts do not exceed $500 a year. The commission is at work to get a line on the companies so as to tax them under the ad valorem system and they are having a hard time.

The bee sting cure for rheumatism is again coming into prominence. We should imagine that a few well directed bee stings properly applied would do wonders in limbering up stiff muscles for a time at least.

Michigan Crop Report.

The average estimated yield of wheat in the southern counties is 20, in the central counties 17, in the northern counties 16, in the state 18 bushels per acre. The quality as compared with an average per cent in the southern counties is 96, in the central and northern counties 94, in the upper peninsula 91 and in the state 95. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in August at 149 mills is 496,541 and at 132 elevators and to grain dealers 643,547 of a total of 1,058,088 bushels. Of this amount 945,000 bushels were marketed in the southern four tiers of counties, 79,250 in the central counties and 35,928 in the northern counties. The estimated total number of bushels of wheat marketed in August is 2,000,000. Ninety-seven mills, elevators and grain dealers report no wheat marketed in August.

The estimated average yield of oats in the state and southern counties is 20, in the central counties and upper peninsula 30 and in the northern counties 26 bushels per acre. The quality as compared with an average per cent in the state, southern, central and northern counties is 81 and in the upper peninsula 82.

The estimated average yield of rye in the state, southern, central and northern counties is 18 and in the upper peninsula 23 bushels per acre.

Correspondents in several of the northern counties report considerable damage to corn, potatoes and beans by frosts on August the 20th and again about the latter part of the month. The condition of corn compared with an average per cent in the state is 80 in the southern counties 87 in the central and northern counties 81 and in the upper peninsula 82.

The condition of beans compared with an average per cent in the state is 83 in the southern counties 84 in the central 81 in the northern 75 and in the upper peninsula 82. The U. S. census of 1905 gives 17.75 as the average of beans harvested in the year 1904, and the state census of 1907 gives 33.74 as the average harvested in 1907 from estimates given by crop correspondents and bean growers this month. Coupled with the information from the U. S. and state census, this department gives its final estimates of the average that will be harvested 47.5.

The estimated average yield of peas in the state, central and northern counties is 18 in the southern counties 18 in the upper peninsula 18 bushels per acre.

The condition of potatoes compared with an average per cent in the state is 80 in the southern counties 84 in the central 81 in the northern 75 and in the upper peninsula 80.

The condition of cover seed compared with an average per cent in the states and in the southern counties 88 in the central counties 90 in the northern counties 88 and in the upper peninsula 82.

Live stock, excepting sheep, is generally in good condition.

Never find fault because a newspaper fails to give every scrap of news so long as you take no pains to give the editor information. The average editor is not a medium or a mind reader, but he gets the news the same way that a milkman gets his milk—by pumping. This is true especially of items as personals. Rightly they are not "puffery," but simply personal mentions for the information of local readers, and those having friends visiting them should always let the editor know it, and he will always be glad to give it the proper notice. So if you have a bit of news worth printing put it in the way of our pencil pusher.

A Missouri man has been put into jail for having married thirteen wives. He's not a criminal, He's a lunatic.

Justice Brewer says that it is usually an easy matter to pick out the truth among a lot of conflicting evidence. By way of illustration he tells the following incident, which took place in a little village near New York. "A house-hunter who had just got off the train, stepped up to a boy hanging around the depot with this salutation: 'My lad, I am looking for Mr. Smithson's new block of semi-detached houses. How far are they from here?' About twenty minutes' walk the boy replied. 'Twenty minutes' exclaimed the house-hunter. 'Nonsense!' The advertisement says five. 'Well,' said the boy, 'you can believe me or you can believe the advertisement, but I ain't trying to make a sale.'"

A small boy was hoeing corn in a sterile field by the roadside when a passer-by stopped and said, "Bears to me your corn is rather small." "Certainly," said the boy, "it's dwarf corn." "But it looks yellow," "Certainly. We planted the yellow kind." "But it looks as if you wouldn't get more than half a crop." "Of course not," said the boy. "We planted her on shares."

There is a shady side to every house we ad knock into but if we have any regard for our health we will sit in the sun—part of the time at least. There seems to be a morbid fascination for a large class of very earnest people in hearing their teeth chatter from the shivering cold. Let us not refuse to go through the dark and dismal spots when duty calls but let us beware of staying there all the time and forgetting that there is a sun in the heavens and a healthy and inspiring breeze from the ocean of God's love.
