

Library's Halloween party is a fun time for all

Lisa Gross donned her Mickey Mouse attire to attend the Farmington Library Halloween party and got a mouthful participating in the apple dunking festivities.

The popular activity of the day was the apple dunking contest which had the children standing in line to see how they could do at the recent Halloween party conducted at the Farmington Community library.

Lauri Dardin took up her time by eating cookies and giving our photographer a pretty smile.

Superman made an appearance and kept his identity a secret even to an inquiring librarian Jill Locke.

This scary face didn't scare away from the food. Jennifer Moore dug right in and had a good time at the Halloween party.
