

By CORINNE ABATT Women may have the impression they are fighting their likeration bat-ties all by themacives—that the men are either pot interested or overly op-posed to their efforts, but it is not so. Speaking for their sex, James Ra-quepau, Les Lazans and Paul Mush, all students at OCC3 orthand Ridge campus, were anxious to talk women's lib from the male viewpoint. It all started when Lazarus hap-pened to mention that he was all for ib, but he found some trauma when be first made a concerted effort to view women as persons, and not sex-ual object to be manpinguted. It ald some of the blame on TV and the media, some on early child-boot training and some on society in general. And having consciously brough for women budge in his thinking, La-zarus has become almost a reformer or women buding an individual iden-tioy. Raquepau is the only one of the

for women building an individual recently. Raquepau is the only one of the three who says he didn't consciously have to reprogram, but he is also the most conservative. Explaining he is studying to become a minister in the Church of Golden Light, he said. "I never had to relearn. I feel I've always accepted everybody on an individual basis"

Raquepau said. "I prefer aggressive-ness. I feel awkward when a woman sits there and is not responsive." Mush said simply, "I can't handle aggressive women." Haquepau continued, stating objec-tions to mothers leaving the home and the children to work, but said he felt being a parent was an important re-sponsibility. He advocated training for both parents. Mush said he favored giving the tasks in the home to whomever was best qualified for the job Latarus interviewed Germaine Greer when she was in Detroit recent-ly and said of one of the most aggres-sive women on the international scene. "I was really turned on by her First time i twe ever been turned on by a lady twice my age. She is very untelligient and very ribald in some of her remarks " "Ears Listening , ™to You Kidl" :0 THE DAN AS FAR AS the conversation's changing anybody's mind, it didn't. Raquepau stuck to his belief that both sexes should be brought up as equals, respecting the rights of all events. The only music for private partie ure of bonds to fit the o people.
