West led the queen of diamonds. The bidding was spirited — East responded a diamond to his partner's club bid. Martha overalled in hearts; North showed her clubs and carried on lead, led his partner's club bid suit; partner played the duce. Martha played low's beh hoped West would switch to a club. West thought and decided declarer had the top spaces for here jump and to the diamonds, so the only way to defeat the hand was to switch to a club. His partner must be short. Also, his partner must be short. Also, his partner must be short. Also, his partner must be short hand was over. The two spades in the South hand were discarded on the high clubs. Four hearts bid and made.

Troop 179 gives awards

Dan Bush and Chuck Williams were honored with the Life award, only one step below Eagle Stoots, when Boy Scott Troop 179 held its Court of Honor to recognize stoots who have advanced in rank since the troop returned from summer camp on Mackinae Island.

Larry McDonald, troop committee chairman for the past two years, re-ceived a special award at the end of his tenure.

creatment of the gase two years, the end of his tenure.

Six new scouts, who received the scot investitute, are Russ DeLonge, Bob Garrison, Jamie Kordel, Eric Smith, Chris Turnes and Dawe Wassen. Dave Sterson received the award of tenderfoot.

Andy Freeburn and Eric Sterson received the award for second class scouts. Freeburn also earned the first class sward along with Bob McCiric and Dave Shortt.

Higher up the scouting ladder, Mitc. Newell and Pat MacDonald were presented with their star award.

Let this year's resolution include a new and exciting look for your home.
