Auction helps to aid Channel 56

Channel 56 has sent out a call for help in its eighth annual auction, and volunteers from the area have already responded. The auction occurs one-third of the annual income of the non-commercial, educational public TV station located in Detroit.
 The wide range of quality items to be auctioned in April rival the variety in a department store, according to a Channel 56 spokesman. Auctioned off are trips, boats, cars, appliances, clothing, art, sporting goods and many other items.
 Volunteers plan, file, drive, coordinate and handle all phases of merchandising, and then keep things rolling once the auction is on the air.
