Bridge

The hand in the diagram was played last weekend at the Canadian Nationals in Toronto. It is well attended by many of our local players. In fact, many of them make it an annual event. Bernie Weinstein of Bloomfield Hills, took an optimistic view after his partner, Ron Rogalski of Sterling Heights, opened the bidding. He didn't have the "book bid" of 18 points or so to make the jump in and by game force. The diamond call could be either the ace or a suit. Ron's spade call denied the ace of hearts, so Bernie decided to probe for a slam.

The old-fashioned jump shift was virtually forcing to slam, but many players today consider it only a game force. The diamond call could be either the ace or a suit. Ron's spade call denied the ace of hearts, so Bernie decided to probe for a slam.

there would be a problem; the trump lead was a good choice. Trumps were drawn and declarer played diamonds. West took the ace and shifted to a club. When the queen held, the slam was home.

Somewhat in the little game of who-had-what-kind-of-news. That we play in this newspaper's office. I've managed to become dubbed the disease editor.

Better, I guess, than being considered the disease editor.

Anyway, I got to write the stories on inoculation clinics, announcements of lectures on certain health problems and assorted drives to raise funds to fight others.

So in my designated capacity, I was rather interested recently in the micrographs of dead rat malnourished daughter brought home from her class in statistics.

the compilation made by one John Grout, a citizen of London, of "the diseases and casualties this year being 1662."

It's a fascinating bit of statistical knowledge.

By far the biggest number, 228, was labeled "Cholera and its kind." Since the dictionary defines Cholera as a bacterial robe, I have to assume this represents the babies that died in the first few days of accidents, only 66 out of nearly 10,000 deaths counted. "Made away themselves," 11, and "starved," a total of seven, and "Lunatic" accounted for five.

Then there was one Londoner who departed from the world "Afrighted," "Grief" accounted for 11, and 62 died "Sodidly."

BUY SOME of the categories baffle me. Maybe someone can tell me what kind of death is the second half of "Cancer and Wolf" or "Jawfall," or "King's Evil," or "Planet," "Tympary," "Thack" or "Rang of the Lights."

One thing I'm sure of. If I'm going to be a disease editor, I'm glad it's now instead of 200 years ago.

YWCA to teach assertiveness

A one day workshop on Assertiveness Training for Women is planned on both Friday, April 23 and Saturday, April 24 at Northwest Branch YWCA, 2800 Grand River.

Scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m., the workshop will continue until 3:30 p.m. Participants are requested to bring a sandwich for lunch. Coffee and tea will be provided.

The workshop is an introduction to the theories and techniques of assertiveness training. The object of this training is to learn techniques in standing up firmly for your own rights without infringing on the rights of others. Content of the workshop will include lectures, discussion and practice exercises.

Dorothy Kirby, ASSW, will be the instructor. Ms. Kirby is a social worker in private practice affiliated with The Clinic in Birmingham. She is an instructor of adult education classes in Transactional Analysis, The Dynamics of Personal Change, as well as Assertiveness Training. Registration for either workshop can be made at the YWCA. Pre-registration is required. There is a $5 enrollment fee and YWCA membership is not required. For further information call the YWCA at Ke. 7-8500.

Chestnut Hill Village.
It was like the first time we saw each other.

It was love at first sight. Our apartment is everything we wanted. Roomy enough for us. Beautifully decorator designed. There's wall-to-wall carpeting, coordinated wallpaper and even a private patio. We have air-conditioning and a complete G.E. kitchen including dishwasher and disposal. What's more, there's no painting, shoveling or raking the leaves to worry about.

The address is one of the best. The neighbors are friendly and the price comfortably affordable. Some other apartments may be nice... but Chestnut Hill Village is for us.

Coed participates in CMU competition

Karen Stewart of Farmington participated in the public relations student society of America's district case study competition at Central Michigan University. She is a member at CMU.

Central's team defeated five others and will go on to the national finals. This year's problem was to provide a community with the best way to observe the bioterrorist.

Wynset will win you over!

This small, secluded cluster home community should be on your "must see" list, if you're house hunting.

A select location, just a stroll from downtown Farmington, with your choice of spacious, luxurious townhomes.

There are romantic courtyard entries, private balconies and patio areas, and a kitchen loaded with pampering appliances. Express yourself with a bit of customization, if you like.

Come see why people are moving from their out-of-town home or from their apartments. Wynset has such winning ways.
