The "Kids Still Count" millage committee, approved by the Farmington School Board at Tuesday night's meeting, announced plans for a rally-meeting at 10 a.m., May 14 at the administrative building of Farmington Public Schools, 2520 Shawwassee.

Co-chairpersons Mary Ann Reilly and John Bailey and treasurer Bud Pickett are leading the group, which supports the proposed millage increase in the June 13 election.

Voters will be opting for a 2.5 mill increase for five years or a 1.75 increase for two years.

"We believe that the decision to support and improve our educational programs is one that no responsible member of the community can avoid," Bailey said. "We urge all Farmington area voters to take a good look at the facts our campaign will bring out, and we think people will agree that the money is needed."

Ms Reilly urged all volunteers to attend the Saturday morning meeting. Persons with questions or those who would like to volunteer or support the committee may contact Bailey at 476-7751.

Someone will thank you

In most homes there are pairs of old, no-longer-worn eyeglasses that are stuck in the corner of a drawer. These may not be needed by your family, but someone who cannot afford the luxury of better vision could use them.

As a public service, we are collecting these useless eyeglasses for New Eyes for the Needy, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which distributes your donations wherever they're needed in the world.

If you have no-longer-worn eyeglasses, broken jewelry, soft eyeglass cases or cataract lenses, you may bring them to our office. We'll ship them to New Eyes for the Needy so someone, somewhere, may see better.
