Local student published

Michael V. Hofman, a Farmington graduate student at Michigan Technological University, is the co-author of an article appearing in Wear, a national trade magazine.

The mechanical engineering-engineering mechanics major, along with Dr. John H. Hofman, professor of mechanical engineering at Michigan Tech., wrote "The Development of Ferrography as a Laboratory Wear Measurement Method for the Study of Engine Operating Conditions on Diesel Engine Wear."

Doing the in thing

Tap dancing has always been popular, but with the revival of musicals, it is definitely the in thing again, said Shirley St. Mary, Farmington Community Center's tap dance instructor. She offers a variety of tap classes and clinics for both children and adults this summer. Registration information is available by calling the center, 477-8104.

Christian women meet Thursday

The Christian Women's Club will meet at noon July 14 for a Summer Freeze luncheon. The meeting will be held in Plymouth's Hilton Inn.

The program is called Freeze Now. That later, to be given by Pat Holders of Detroit Edison. Missie will be furnished by Anita Mowery, a recording artist from Ohio.

Jo Cone will take reservations by calling 477-8125, as well as make baby sitting accommodations. All activities planned are open to all women in all surrounding areas.
