Peugeot unveils the 604. A car engineered to give you a level of comfort like no other car in its class.

Rarely in history has there been a serious contender to the throne of Mercedes-Benz, BMW, and Jaguar.

For these cars have long represented the epitome of sophisticated engineering and meticulous construction.

So it is with full awareness of their stature, and with full appreciation of your skepticism that any car could be their equal, that we introduce the Peugeot 604.

And place it squarely in competition with the immortals.

The Peugeot 604 is in a class with the Mercedes-Benz 280 E, the BMW 530i, and the Jaguar XJ6L in every important respect, except comfort.

In comfort, it outclasses them all. Nowhere has this fact been given more convincing testimony than in the European press. In England, Motor magazine praised the 604's "magnificent comfort." In Germany, Auto Motor Und Sport called its ride "unbeatable." And in Austria, Kurier magazine said, "The Peugeot 604 is not only the most comfortable car in its class...but indeed one of the most comfortable cars in the world."

One reason for this acclaim is the 604's oversized shock absorbers. You won't find them on any other car because they're built, and patented, by Peugeot.

Combined with the 604's fully independent suspension, large coil springs and long vertical wheel travel, they keep the car from practically ever bottoming out.

To keep noise and vibration—one of the major sources of passenger fatigue—from reaching the passenger compartment, the 604 has a "floating" differential and a steel torque tube enclosing the drive shaft.

All of these components have been engineered to work in complete harmony. The result is a car that is obviously comfortable when you first ride in it. And incredibly comfortable when you've been riding in it all day.

But what may be more visibly comforting to you is the 604's interior. There you'll find the kind of room one would require of a chauffeur-driven sedan, which is precisely what the 604 is in many parts of Europe. There you'll also find orthopedically designed seats that are tuned to the suspension. And upholstered in your choice of velour or leather.

The front seats are fully reclining and adjust automatically for height as you move them forward and back. The rear seats have built in head rests. An option on the Mercedes-Benz and BMW. An oversight on the Jaguar.

For your added comfort, we've added air conditioning, AM/FM stereo radio, an electric sunroof, power windows, and a choice of automatic or 4-speed manual transmission. Most all come as standard equipment.

To help you pass in comfort, the 604 is powered by an overhead cam V-6 engine that's smooth, quiet, and highly responsive.

And to keep you on the road instead of all over it, there's power-assisted rack and pinion steering, power-assisted disc brakes on all four wheels, and stabilizer bars front and rear.

But perhaps the most comforting part of owning a Peugeot 604 is knowing you've bought a car that can withstand the passage of time. Not only in its classic styling by Pininfarina, but in the way it's built.

Every critical part of every 604 is inspected at least once. And, unlike most automakers, we test-drive every single car before it leaves the factory.

Finally, we'd like to leave you with this comforting news. The suggested retail price of a 604 starts at around $11,000 P.O.E.

And that puts Peugeot in a class by itself.
