China painting

Delores Moorhead, a member of the Michigan and International China Painting Teachers Organizations and World Federation of China Painting, brings her step-by-step technique to Farmington Community Center. Eight Wednesday morning sessions begin Sept. 28 with the instructor who has been teaching for 14 years. Registrations are taken on a first-come-first-served basis until all classrooms in the center's fall line-up are filled.

Art for art's sake

For persons from 2 to 82 years old, there is an art class offered in the Farmington Community Center this fall. From an art experience for mothers and tots to the exacting discipline of sumi-e, the Japanese style brush painting, the opportunities for artists, and would-be artists, are many and varied. Registration continues until all classrooms are filled. For information, call the center at 477-8404.

Items come in twos at twin re-sale

Farmington Mothers of Twins Club first re-sale will be in one of its members' garages, at 35928 Johnstown, in Independence Commons on Sept. 8-9. Sale hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The majority of the items on sale will be duplicates of children's toys, cribs, high chairs, winter coats, boots, and shoes, clothing, love seats, training wheels, bedding and equipment.

"Since we are still a growing club, we are allowing other household goods, and adult clothing to be sold this year. Another year, we may have to limit our re-sale to just twins' clothing, toys and equipment," said Helen Spitzer, spokesman for the club. The new chapter of the twins clubs in Michigan is following the format of other clubs, which hold re-sales twice a year for the benefit of its members.
