Soviet woman seeks father's freedom

A former Soviet citizen now touring this country to get help in obtaining the release of her father from the USSR will speak at 8 p.m. tonight at the Labor Zionist Institute, 22355 Middlebelt in Farmington Hills.

Luba Zlotver Bar-Menachim left Russia for Israel, where she now lives with her family. Preceding her appearance here, she wrote the following letter:

"On July 17, 1977, our mother, Dina Zlotver died. She died in Sverdlovsk in the Soviet Union. But she wanted to live in Israel with her children and grandchildren. For three years, both she and our father, Isaac, have been suffering with cancer. Yet the responsible authorities refused and refused again to give them permission to leave. There was no reason to refuse this permission.

"They were in possession of no secrets and both were ailing. Now our father is alone. We, his children, are far away in Israel and he has no one to care for him in his sickness. Do the Soviet authorities want him to die alone, separated from his own near and dear ones?"

"THEY HAVE no reason to keep him. We beg you to use whatever influence you can to persuade the Soviet authorities to let him go immediately. Do not let our father, Isaac Zlotver, die alone in Sverdlovsk."

Ms. Bar-Menachim has been joined in her efforts to free her father by the American Jewish Congress, Detroit Committee for Soviet Jewry, Labor Zionist Alliance and the Workmen's Circle. Jointly, they are sponsoring the reception.

In 1977 he was chairman of the year at Meharry Medical College. He has been a member of the board of trustees since 1973. DR. SWITZER has been a Sault Ste. Marie dentist since 1968, is a graduate of the University of Detroit School of Dentistry and succeeds Dr. Paul A.
