LET US REMEMBER

That every flag that flies opposite the German one is by proxy the American flag, and that the armies fighting in our defense under these flags cannot be maintained through this winter unless there is food enough for them and for their women and children at home.

There can only be food enough if America provides it. And America can only provide it by the personal service and patriotic co-operation of all of us.

Michigan must do her part. To save meat we must use more poultry, rabbits and especially fish and sea food in place of beef, mutton and pork.

Observe meatless day every Tuesday. On other days do not use either beef, mutton or pork more than once daily.

Use all left-over meat, cold or in made dishes.

Use soups more freely. Use beans. They have nearly the same food value as meat. Service.

We print auction sale bills.

He's Been Around Some

Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of "The Son of Tarzan," the thrilling serial story that begins in this issue of the Enterprise, was a cavalier, a cowboy, a miner, a policeman, a book agent, mercantile business manager and magazine editor, successively, before he discovered that he could write popular novels and short stories. He is an athlete, a bug on auto racing and is crazy about children. Mr. Burroughs now lives at Oak Park, Ill. Don't fail to read this latest story of his.

Rev. W. A. Moore delivered a very fine address Sunday. There were not as many out as could be desired, but the Doctor remarked that he was very happy to speak to each one that was there, and hoped the fine spirit of the congregation and himself would communicate itself to those who wished to be there and couldn't possibly attend.

Sunday was All Souls' Day, which is remembered each year by all of this faith. Rev. Moore's text was "Thanks be to God for Our Victory," and he very ably discussed it.
