

Julius Anderson Writes, Wouldn't Be Without Dodd's Kidney Pills

Read what Mr. Anderson of Lakes City, Mich., says about Dodd's Kidney Pills: "I received your letter and the Dodd Pills. The Pills I highly recommend and I write this letter not to get another box, but because they are good and worth to me every cent that is invested in them. I take them almost regularly and find them very handy for keeping in the house and feel that I cannot be without them. They have done me much good, which I highly appreciate and will recommend them to my friends."

One person like Mr. Anderson, accept no substitute for the old genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills: their remedial qualities are the well known to thousands of users who have saved themselves from the ravages of kidney troubles by the timely use of this famous old remedy.

Can Recite All of Bible by Heart. The most wonderful feat of memory in the world recently been accomplished by William Frederick, a New York salesman.

He has learned the entire Bible of heart, and can recite it from Genesis to Revelations and state where it may be found. It has taken him 18 years.

A similar task was once undertaken by an eighteenth-century strolling player, about whom Sir William Robertson Nicoll has written. But he gave in after 11 years, by which time he had succeeded in memorizing about two-thirds of the Old Testament.

Chivalrous Youngsters.

Henry has a large Newfoundland dog named Rex. While at play in the front yard, a little boy named Fred, who is a neighbor, came and played with him. Rex growled and Henry said: "Be a gentleman, Rex. Don't hurt the little dog; he got no home or friends."

"Cold Cough Headache and Grip." CALDS' BRONCHO-QUIETIN is the best remedy for colds, coughs, and grip. It is a sign of its signature on box. See.

It's the love of the other fellow for your money that is the root of all evil.

Children Who Are Sleazy

When your child cries at night, tosses restlessly in its sleep, is constipated, or has a bad cold, or is generally uncomfortable, Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children will cure it. The child will be comfortable and the mother will be without a worry.

Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children

These powders are pleasant to take and are safe for children. They cleanse the stomach, act on the bowels, and give healthy sleep. Don't accept any substitute.

Use by mothers for 30 years. Sold by all druggists. Sample mailed FREE. Address: A. S. C. M. STEDMAN, Ltd., New York, N. Y.

More than 60 yrs. ago

an English chemist began to manufacture BEECHAM'S PILLS. Today they have the greatest sale of any medicine in the World! Why?

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere. In boxes, 10c, 25c.

Dr. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy

For the prompt relief of Asthma and Hay Fever. Ask your druggist for 25 cents and one dollar. Write for FREE SAMPLE.

Northrup & Lyman Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Cuticura Soap is Easy Shaving for Sensitive Skins

The most wonderful skin remedy in the world.

W. N. W. DETROIT, NO. 4-1918.

The Son of Tarzan

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

HANSON, THE STRANGER, CAUSES THE DISMISSAL OF BAYNES BY BWANA, BUT HIDES HIS MOTIVE

Synopsis.—A scientific expedition off the African coast rescues a human derelict, Alexei Pavulitch. He brings aboard an ape, intelligent and friendly, and reaches London. Jack, son of Lord Greystoke, the original Tarzan, has inherited a love of wild life and study from his father. He is now a driving card in a music hall. The ape makes friends with him and refuses to leave Jack despite his trainer. Tarzan appears and is joyfully recognized by the ape, for Tarzan had been king of his tribe. Tarzan agrees to buy Akut, the ape, and send him back to Africa. Jack and Akut become great friends. Pavulitch is killed when he attempts murder. A thief tries to kill Jack, but is killed by Akut. They flee together to the jungle and take up life. Jack rescues an Arabian girl and takes her into the forest. He is wounded and Merien is stolen. The bad Sydes by her from Kovodo, the black. Merien kills Hanson fighting for the girl. Pavulitch tries to rescue and takes her to his wife. Jack valiantly seeks her in the wilds. Merien mourns Jack for dead and heads love plan of Merison Baynes, an Englishman.

CHAPTER XII—Continued.

The wide heavens above her seemed to promise a greater freedom from doubt and questioning. Baynes had urged her to tell him that she loved him before. For what was he waiting for? He had even better reason to believe her dead than it was because of that belief he had made no effort to find her after his raid upon the village of Kovodo.

Behold a great flowering shrub Hanson lay gazing at the stars and waiting. He had laid thus and there many a time before. For what was he waiting for? He had even better reason to believe her dead than it was because of that belief he had made no effort to find her after his raid upon the village of Kovodo.

Merien, walking slowly, approached the bush behind which the water lay. Hanson drew a large bandanna handkerchief from his pocket and rose stealthily to his knees. A light gleamed down at the corral. Far out across the plain a lion roared. Hanson changed his position until he squatted upon both feet.

Again the pony neighed, this time closer. There was the sound of his body brushing against shrubbery. Hanson heard and wondered how the animal had got from the corral, for it was evident that he was already in the garden. The man turned his head in the direction of the beast.

What he saw sent him to the ground, huddled close beneath the shrubbery. A man was coming, leading two ponies. Merien heard him and stopped to look and listen. A moment later the Hon. Merison Baynes drew near, and the two saddled mounts at his heels.

Merien looked up at him in surprise. The Hon. Merison grinned sheepishly. "I couldn't sleep," he explained, "and was going for a bit of a ride when I chanced to see you. I thought you might like to join me. Ripping good sport, you know, night riding. Come on."

Merien laughed. The adventure appealed to her. "All right," she said. Hanson grove beneath his breath. The two led their horses from the garden to the gate and through it. There they discovered Hanson's mount.

"Why, here's the trader's pony," remarked Baynes. "He's probably down visiting with woman," said Merien.

Merien lay for him, then it was remarked that the Hon. Merison had to have to ride back through that jungle at night to his camp.

A moment later the two had mounted and were moving slowly across the moon-bathed plain.

Their horses were pressed side by side. Baynes was pressing Merien's hand as he poured words of love into her ear, and Merien was listening.

"Come to London with me," urged the Hon. Merison. "I can gather a safari, and we can be a whole day upon the way to the coast before they guess that we have gone."

"Why must we go that way?" asked the girl. "By land and sea?" asked the girl. "By land and sea?" asked the girl.

At the bungalow Bwana had met the returning adventurers on the veranda. Returning from the foreman's quarters, Bwana had noticed that the night gate was open, and further investigation revealed the fact that Merien's pony was gone and also the one most often used by Baynes.

a sigh of relief. It had been an unpleasant duty, and he was glad that it was over, but by no means regret his action.

He did not mention the subject again to Merien, and in this he made a mistake, for the young girl, while realizing the debt of gratitude she owed to Bwana and Mr. Deane, was both proud and sensitive. So that Bwana's action in sending Baynes away and giving her no opportunity to explain or defend him hurt and mortified her. Also it did much toward making a martyr of Baynes in her eyes and arousing in her breast a keen feeling of loyalty toward him.

CHAPTER XIII.

Merison and Hanson. As Hanson and Merison rode toward the former's camp the Englishman indulged a morose silence. The other was attempting to formulate an opening that would lead naturally to the proposition he had in mind. He was failing, as he noted the sullen scowl upon the other's pathetic face.

"Rather rough on you, wasn't he?" he ventured at last, jerking his head back in the direction of the bungalow as Baynes turned his eyes upon him at the remark.

"He thinks a lot of the girl," continued Hanson, "and don't want nobody to marry her and take her away. But it looks to me as though he was doing her more harm than good in sending her here. She ought to marry someone else, and she couldn't do better than a fine young gentleman like you."

Baynes, who had first felt inclined to take offense at the mention of his private affairs by this common fellow, was mollified by Hanson's final remark and immediately commenced to see in him a man of discrimination.

"He's a damned boomer," grumbled the Hon. Merison, "but I'll get even with him. He may be the whole thing in central Africa, but I'm as big as he is in London, and he'll find it out when he comes home."

"If I was you," said Hanson, "I wouldn't let a man keep me from getting the girl I want. Between you and me I ain't got up use for him either, and if I can help you any, why, just call on me."

"It's mighty good of you, Hanson," replied Baynes, warming up a bit, "but I don't see how I can get on in this God-forsaken hole."

"I know what I'd do," said Hanson. "I'd take the girl along with me. If she loves you she'll go all right."

"It can't be done," said Baynes. "He bosses this whole blooming country for miles around. He'd be sure to catch us."

"No, he wouldn't; not with me running things," said Hanson. "I've been trading an animal here for ten years, and I know as much about the country as he does. If you want to take the girl along I'll help you, and I'll guarantee that there won't nobody catch up with us before we reach the coast."

"I'll tell you what—you write her a note, and I'll get it to her by my head man. Ask her to meet you by a goodly. She won't refuse that. In the meantime we can be movin' camp a little farther north all the time, and you can make arrangements with her to be all ready on a certain night. Tell her I'll meet her about midnight, and you wait for us in camp. That'll be better, for I know the country well and can cover it quicker than you. You can take charge of the safari and be movin' clear about dawn to the north, and the girl and I'll catch up to you."

The balance of the long ride to Hanson's northern camp was made in silence, for both men were occupied with their own thoughts, most of which were far from being either complimentary or loyal to the other.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Expect New Comet. A spectacle in the stellar heavens of surpassing brilliancy may be expected the coming spring if the predictions of competent observers are verified. Not since the great comet of 1858, which aroused a vast deal of interest, has there been any especially brilliant comet seen. The new comet is described as a gigantic comet, outlasting in size and brilliancy all those seen in modern times, and since 1858 there has not been any especially brilliant comet seen. The new comet is described as a gigantic comet, outlasting in size and brilliancy all those seen in modern times, and since 1858 there has not been any especially brilliant comet seen.

But Are These Legal Tenders?

"Hay your food with thought," says a Hoover bulletin. "Pay your taxes with a smile," runs a revenue slogan—Boston Transcript.

German women must pay $300 a pair for women stockings.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE

It has been fight or die for many of us in the past and the lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they decided to make a fight of it. Dr. Pierce's "Anker-Pain-Expeller" is the only medicine that will cure the most painful of diseases, such as rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anker-Pain-Expeller (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm believers of Anker-Pain-Expeller. It is a cure for all the ailments of the bladder.

Step into the drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's Anker-Pain-Expeller, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. for trial package. Anker-Pain-Expeller is a cure for all the ailments of the bladder.

The Era of Censorship. "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," exclaimed the man who quotes. "Possibly," replied Senator Sorghum. "A great deal just now depends on how you got your information and what you intend to do with it."

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 10 cc. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up for you and mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, nor stick or gray, and does not rub off. Adv.

The Softest.

"Why is it," queried the fair widow, "that they always say a man 'pines' for a woman?" "I suppose," growled the fussy bachelor, "it's because pine is about the softest word there is."

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. In Use for Over 50 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

Misdirected energy is when a young man runs after a girl who doesn't appreciate him. Woe to the politician whose nerve has become affected.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

YOU'LL enjoy this real Burley cigarette. It's full of flavor—just as good as a pipe.

IT'S TOASTED

The Burley tobacco is toasted; makes the taste delicious. You know how toasting improves the flavor of bread. And it's the same with tobacco exactly.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Expect New Comet. A spectacle in the stellar heavens of surpassing brilliancy may be expected the coming spring if the predictions of competent observers are verified. Not since the great comet of 1858, which aroused a vast deal of interest, has there been any especially brilliant comet seen. The new comet is described as a gigantic comet, outlasting in size and brilliancy all those seen in modern times, and since 1858 there has not been any especially brilliant comet seen.

The balance of the long ride to Hanson's northern camp was made in silence, for both men were occupied with their own thoughts, most of which were far from being either complimentary or loyal to the other.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

GARRET or CAKED UNDER by COWS can be overcome by feeding good milk to purify the blood and appetite. Dr. David Bohrer.

BADGER BALM From the best of Badger Balm. It is a cure for all the ailments of the bladder.

Old-Time Herbal Medicine Makes Blood Pure. Blood, Mich.—"A few years ago my blood got very bad. I would get sore all over my neck and if I would scratch myself the least bit it would fester up and would get hot. I saw Dr. Pierce's medicines and decided to use them. I would give them a trial."

Medical Discovery.—And "Pleasant Pellets" and they cured me in a short time. I have not had any trouble with my blood since, and am enjoying the best of health. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines as being good."—G. C. FISHLEY.

Write Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for free book on blood. Adv.

COLT DISTEMPER

You can prevent this loathsome disease from running through your stable and infecting your horses when you begin the treatment. No matter how young, SPAIN'S is safe to use on any colt. It prevents all distemper, no matter how colts or horses are exposed. All good horsemen and horse owners should have a supply of SPAIN'S at all times. SPAIN'S MEDICAL CO., Mfrs., Graham, Ind., U. S. A.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

will quiet your cough, soothe the inflammation of a sore throat and lungs, stop irritation in the bronchial tubes, insure a good night's rest, free from coughing and with easy expectoration in the morning. Made and sold in America for fifty-two years. A wonderful prescription, assailing Nature in building up your general health and driving off the disease. Especially useful in lung trouble, asthma, croup, bronchitis, etc. For sale in all civilized countries.—Adv.

True Blue. Cornelius Vanderbilt, at a luncheon at Piping Rock, praised an old New Yorker. "He is a true-blue American for fair," Mr. Vanderbilt said. "His ancestors came over on the Mayflower and his descendants are going back on army transports."

The foolish little moth looks on the bright side of things—and you have doubtless observed his finish.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Expect New Comet. A spectacle in the stellar heavens of surpassing brilliancy may be expected the coming spring if the predictions of competent observers are verified. Not since the great comet of 1858, which aroused a vast deal of interest, has there been any especially brilliant comet seen. The new comet is described as a gigantic comet, outlasting in size and brilliancy all those seen in modern times, and since 1858 there has not been any especially brilliant comet seen.

The balance of the long ride to Hanson's northern camp was made in silence, for both men were occupied with their own thoughts, most of which were far from being either complimentary or loyal to the other.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Expect New Comet. A spectacle in the stellar heavens of surpassing brilliancy may be expected the coming spring if the predictions of competent observers are verified. Not since the great comet of 1858, which aroused a vast deal of interest, has there been any especially brilliant comet seen. The new comet is described as a gigantic comet, outlasting in size and brilliancy all those seen in modern times, and since 1858 there has not been any especially brilliant comet seen.

The balance of the long ride to Hanson's northern camp was made in silence, for both men were occupied with their own thoughts, most of which were far from being either complimentary or loyal to the other.

By a strange twist of circumstances, Jack (Korak) picks up trace of his lost sweetheart—Hanson and Baynes plot.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)