All that a Shoe-Sole Can Give

Where can the little folks ever find soles like Neolin Soles? Nowhere that Shoes are sold.

Millions of active feet are wearing them now, and cutting the family shoe cost by doing so. Imagine them on your own sturdy youngsters? They'll give them rough usage certainly. The younger ones will scuffle over the cement paved sidewalks, and they'll romp and wrestle in them, no doubt. The older ones will "Boy Scout" them over Farmington's hillsides and roughest places. But won't mind. They can stand it.

NEOLIN SOLES

These soles are not rubber; they are not leather. They are different from any other shoe sole, and the stamp "Neolin" distinguishes Neolin. These shoes are made by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, Ohio, and are now on sale by

To Our Customers and Friends—

The United States Food Administration has ruled that all flour mills shall be operated under license and regulations promulgated by them. Mills not conforming thereto shall have their licenses revoked, and be subjected to fine or imprisonment or both. Ruling effective is: That "No licensed mill shall use more than 264 lbs. of cleaned, 38-lb., or heavier wheat in making (196 lbs.) one barrel of flour;" also further ruled, "That all contracts made previous to December 25th, for flour, of different grades than above specified shall be cancelled and reinstated on a basis of the new grade."

"No miller manufacturing wheat or rye flour, or dealing in wheat or rye flour, shall sell or deliver any such flour to any person knowing that such sale or delivery will give such a person a supply thereof in excess of his reasonable requirements for use or sale by him during the period of 30 days next succeeding the delivery thereof."

As the rulings specify that no wheat flour shall be sold to any customer, unless said customer purchase a like proportion of wheat flour substitute—Buckwheat, Corn Meal Bran or Midlings. We have been compelled to

Discontinue All Retail Business

in wheat flour, but will continue to sell Bran, Buckwheat, Corn Meal and Midlings as before.

Custom Grinding

will be continued with farmers on exchange basis without insisting on farmers taking substitute commodities, but we urge farmers as a patriotic duty to co-operate in flour conservation by using substitutes for wheat flour at all times.
