GOV. WARNER WITHDRAWS

Favors Henry Ford for United States Senatorial Nomination on the Republican Ticket.

"I fail to see how anyone in Michigan, a Republican State by over 100,000, which in this war crisis has loyally stood by President Wilson and his war measures, well or better than any state in the union—as proven by our entire Republican Delegation at Washington—any one of whom would not object to the President's asking their constituents to unanimously return them, should now object to Henry Ford always a republican although not active or claiming leadership in party matters, becoming a republican candidate for United States Senator.

The proposed plan of some of the Democratic leaders to place him on their ticket arises plainly from a purely partisan standpoint—not a patriotic one—when they attempt to use him to bolster up their acknowledged poor chances in Michigan. I do not understand that Mr. Ford was asked by the President to become a Democratic candidate and I do not believe he ever thought of it in that way. When we can get for the Republican candidate for Senator the man who, although immensely wealthy, commands the highest respect and regard of the common people, and who has done so much for Detroit and Michigan, we should gladly accept him, but, at the same time, frown on any Democratic scheme put forth for purely party politics.

"As Mr. Ford's candidacy would require no extensive organization to easily win, it would have the good effect of relieving from political work many who could better be helping out in the country's war work—the important thing now. Petitions filed at the proper time, for Henry Ford, as the republican candidate will settle the matter very early and satisfactorily to a large majority of our citizens.

"The President will be pleased; the people of Michigan will be—and surely the Republican party, including all candidates on our ticket, should be, as he would be a tower of strength to his own ticket. The few Democrats who hoped to use him for political assistance, will simply smile and in fume."

"Winning the war comes first, absolutely. That's conceded and we must all work with our national administration to end it as quickly as possible. There should be no factional divisions on plans as the only effect would be the prolonging of the war and the killing and maiming of thousands more of our boys. There should be less party politics until war is over and democrats as well as republicans should recognize that fact; at times they have failed to do so.

"No man in Michigan, even if on a political pay roll, and we are seeing too many of that kind now, should fail to keep war work first.

"Henry Ford is in a class by himself. He is today the greatest constructive force in America and there would be no limit to his usefulness in the Senate at a time when the world's safety and security so largely depends on the manufacturing and producing resources of this country. Mr. Ford's advice and counsel would be based absolutely on results accomplished and any country with such a citizen should use him to the utmost. It is idle to state he is disqualified by having had no legislative experience. Experienced legislators in Congress, who wish to serve their country and our allies, will welcome a man of Mr. Ford's training and experience in the solution of problems unparalleled in our history. As a Republican candidate at the primaries he will be a sure winner over the present field, and deservedly so.

"So far as my own candidacy for Senator was concerned, I had every reason to be gratified at the number and sincerity of the assurances of support received, but I believe a majority of my supporters would have supported Mr. Ford, and I also believe that statement true regarding those supporting the other two candidates. I believe my judgement will be confirmed if they remain in the race. This is especially true if attacks continue to be made on Henry Ford by Mr. Osborn, printable or otherwise. I note the reference to myself as a "whipped dog" by Mr. Osborn. It did do me no more harm than did his calling; Lieutenant Governor Kelley a "Newfoundland dog" at a banquet where they were guests a number of years ago. All such attacks show up the real character of Mr. Osborn, and his friends no doubt will feel humiliated by his actions."

Albert Goers Writes

Camp Custer, June 11, 1918. To the Enterprise:

Received your paper today and was very glad to get it. It makes me feel more at home, when I can read the doings of our home folks and the events of the week.

News around here is scarce, but nevertheless there is a lot of work, such as drilling recruits; at present we have a large number of lumber jacks from the upper peninsula. I guess all they ever knew is to swing an ax or pull a saw; they were awkward at first, but time and patience makes soldiers out of the "rookies."

We had the largest parade last week that was ever held at Custer—over 22,000 men paraded and were reviewed by our Major General Kennedy. There were hundreds of visitors here for the event, but I failed to find a Farmington man.

I am enclosing a picture of myself while trying to "sun" myself. I haven't a "sensible" picture at all, never could be serious enough for that.

We are all feeling good at the prospect of leaving here soon. According to newspaper and barracks chatter we will be miles away when the June 24th to 28th draft comes in.

I could write a book on all I have learned, but that isn't any fun, so thanking you very much for the paper. I am as ever,

Corp Albert Goers,

Co. E, 338 Inf.,
Camp Custer, Mich.

Obtained Possession of Property

The suit of James B. McKay, of Detroit, vs. Huron Bristol and Ida Smith, brought a couple of weeks ago before Justice Thayer, to obtain possession of a tenant house on the McKay Farm, formerly the old Newton place, and was dismissed on account of improper service of summons, was again brought up Monday afternoon, and a judgement rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Newsy Items Taken From Other Papers in and About the County.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie King, of Farmington, and Mrs. Dave French, of Crosswell, were guests at W. J. Griffith's, Tuesday, Plymouth Mail.

Charles Rien, of Farmington, was let off on suspended sentence Monday, by paying $7.75 costs for catching immature rock bass.—Birmingham Eclectic.

Milford taxpayers will be called upon to pay $22.20 per $1,000 valuation this year. This is about the highest municipal tax on record.—South Lyon Herald.

F. B. Herrick informs the Herald that about 25 acres have been promised or secured for sorghum cane. This is mostly in small parcels but will yield enough cane to make a fairly good run for their mill this fall.—South Lyon Herald.

Robert W. Hodge, a Brighton boy in service in France, mentions an unusual coincidence in one of his letters home. Among German prisoners over whom he had been placed as guard, he found some of his mother's cousins, who inquired through him of relatives of both living in Genoa township.—Milford Times.

In a fit of insane anger over remarks alleged to have been made impugning his loyalty, Benjamin Honert, a prominent stockbuyer of Ortonville attacked Ellsworth Narrin, a well known Groveland township farmer, at Ortonville Friday afternoon and inflicted injuries with a club that resulted in Mr. Narrin's death in Goodrich hospital early in the evening.—Holly Advertiser.

Members of the Northville Auto Club should be careful about exceeding 25 miles an hour in Redford township, as that village has a motorcycle cop to enforce its speed laws. A Northville man became a victim recently, the officer claiming the said motorist was driving 38 miles an hour. The alleged infraction of the speed law is supposed to be due to the fact that the offender's customary motor gait is about 60 miles per hour, so of course, he thought he was scarcely moving at 38.—Northville Record.

Dog Show at State Fair

For the first time in its history, the Michigan State Fair will, this year, include a registered dog show, licensed by the American Kennel Club, among its exhibits. Dogs will be judged on three days of the Fair, September 5, 6 and 7, to be held in Detroit, August 30 to September 8.

You can bring your own dog and should bring him. The fact that he may not have a pedigree, or that you are not sure about it, makes no difference, for a dog does not have to be pedigreed and registered to make him eligible for competition in a championship show. Also, do not think that he stands no chance of winning because he does not happen to have a pedigree as long as your arm, for Aman Gam, one of the greatest Airedales ever shown in the United States, was purchased at a dog pond in England for the sum of 60 cents (in our money), and many dogs and terriers that were bought on the street or in animal stores for almost nothing, beat dogs that cost their owners small fortunes. Remember, that dogs are not judged by their pedigree, but on what they are.

Two Farmington Couple

On Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Esch, on the Base Line, occurred the marriage of their daughter Martha and Herman Rossow.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Stange, of the local Evangelical church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Following the ceremony a bountiful wedding supper was served, and the young couple given the best wishes of their friends, in which the Enterprise joins.

Mr. and Mrs. Rossow will reside in Redford.

On Thursday, June 20th, at the Methodist parsonage in Pontiac, occurred the marriage of Miss Emma Schroeder, of this village, and Ralph E. Hoffman, of Akron, Ind., the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. P. Bennett at high noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, who are both well and favorably known here, Mrs. Hoffman having lived here her entire life, while Mr. Hoffman has been employed on the D. U. R. for the past year, will make their home at Akron, on the farm of his father, and will carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends for future happiness and prosperity.

Goes to Plymouth

Manager Carl Isaminger, of the local telephone exchange, has received notification that he has been transferred to the Plymouth exchange as repairman, and that the local exchange will be under the management of the Northville exchange.

The change is made, it is stated by the telephone company, on account of the shortage of labor, and the consequence is a doubling up, wherever possible.

Formerly Lived Here

Daisy McGee-Armistead, of Adrian, well known here, died suddenly Thursday, June 13, 1918, following an operation for appendicitis, aged 27 years, 2 months and 27 days.

Daisy McGee was born at Devils Lake, Mich., on March 17, 1891. Her mother died when she was three years old. At the age of 5 years, after her father's second marriage, she came with her parents to Detroit, living there until 11 years ago, when the family moved to this village. Four years ago they again moved back to Detroit, and three years ago May 1, 1915, she married Francis Armistead, of Adrian, and has been living in Adrian since then.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her early death, a father, a step-mother, a half sister, half brother, an aged grandmother and many friends here, in Detroit and in Adrian.

She was a member of the M. E. Sunday school of this village.

The funeral services were held at her home, with interment in Oakwood cemetery, Adrian.

A number of ladies from this place attended the North Farmington Auxiliary at Pleasant Lake, at the home of Lucile Dickey. The next meeting will be a basket picnic at the old picnic grounds at Orchard Lake, on July 15th.

Mrs. J. J. Webster attended a birthday surprise on Dick Erwin at Birmingham Saturday evening. There were also guests from Detroit, Redford, Royal Oak and Birmingham. Mr. Erwin declared he was only 27 years of age, notwithstanding the fact that he had three grandchildren on each knee. Mrs. Webster also attended the U. P. church at Southfield on the Sabbath.

Speeders Fined

The following persons were up before Justice Thayer for speeding: On June 10th, George Ives, James Conklin, C. Robinson and F. M. Holden, of Detroit, were each assessed $15.00 and $5.00 costs by the local court.

On June 15th F. H. Acker, of Lansing, and H. Wilson, of Milwaukee, left with the justice a like amount, and on June 17th H. Gay, of Cleveland, was apprehended and made a deposit of $20.00, but failed to put in an appearance for the hearing.

The persons above named were all apprehended by the county deputy, who is patrolling the roads of this vicinity daily, and those who exceed the speed limit know what to expect if they disregard the speed laws.

South Lyon will have a three-day Chautauqua, beginning July 16th.
