Many Formations of Sponges.

Sponges are aulimals with power to eat and digest. They begin their life in tiny cellike greatures and have a short, free life in the sac, after which they fasten themselves to a rock and begin to develop. They grow into all directions like fingers, and are called mermidid's gloves. There are families sponges, treelike sponges and cupilike sponges, treelike sponges that form a carpiet over the rocks, and spongescalled by the fishermen 'sea neets,' because they look like birds' nests,
