

Stand tall Founders' Festival is smashing success

(Left) A cowboy takes a spill during the Founders' Festival Rodeo Saturday afternoon. (Below) Young and old alike joined together and marched down Grand River to celebrate the nation's bicentennial.

(Left) U.S. Rep. William Brodhead (D-Detroit) and Bi-centennial Commission member John Anhut watch the stream of floats that traveled down Grand River during the parade Saturday. (Right) A member of the Milford High School Band marches down the street during the parade. (Below) Saturday afternoon, Farmington Hills firefighters entertained a large crowd at Kendallwood Shopping Center with a display of water and manpower.

Staff photos
by
Harry Mauthe

(Right) Clowns lined the parade route Saturday morning to the delight of the crowd, often six deep along Grand River. (Below) The Old Homestead subdivision recreated the American Gothic with their float

corduroys for that hudson's man

The corduroys are convening at Hudson's. Rich and rugged, yet soft and sportive. A superlative statement for fall.

Texture now takes its place next to tailoring, and our newest corduroy collection offers the best of both. Here, just one of the many great cord looks you'll find at Hudson's right now. Contemporary vested suit with continental peak lapels and tone-on-tone detailing. Of comfortable cotton in redwood or blue. $115. From the Contempo Shop at Hudson's Northland, Oakland and Pontiac Mall.

HUDSON'S
HUDSON'S

