

Getting Around

By ETHEL SIMMONS

New York magazine celebrated food critic Gael Greene as a Detroit daughter of the late fashion retailer Nat Greene and Mrs. Greene who lives in Southfield.

She autographed copies of her book (first novel) Blue Sues No Candy. Saturday at Richard M. West Boulevard. She also was guest of honor Monday at a small gathering in Detroit's Lincoln Chop House.

Again she signed copies of the book for guests who included members of the press, and friends. Her mother also was present. Mrs. Greene's good friend James Howard, noted food writer, arranged the gathering hosted by Les and Sam Gruber of Chop House restaurant.

Mrs. Greene poses a slim and a dion. She is 40 years old. She said the book has been going well and she is particularly pleased with a review in Time magazine. She said the live series to come played by Katherine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy.

BLUE SUES No candy has a reputation as a novel about a young woman who is a writer. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

Mrs. Greene makes the character in her book as a young woman who is a writer. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

The book is a novel about a young woman who is a writer. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

Patricia Joyce, a Detroit actress, is a successful writer. She is a writer. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

Mrs. Joyce's father said, in his letter that the family regularly attended Birmingham Methodist Church. Smith and his wife moved to London last year. He is retired from Chrysler and now works for Maxwell Ferguson's Asia Africa Australia Division.

Whenever Pat is in Detroit nowadays she lives with her mother's cousin, Mrs. Richard Norton in West Bloomfield. He said.

Commenting on the upcoming show, he said. As her father, I must admit to bias. However, I think you'll find the girl is good.

HAVEN'T had a chance to read the book yet. I said I am going to read it. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

Mrs. Joyce said the book had a lot to do with a woman's sexual life. We did not read the book. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

LETTERS have been sent to the author. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer. It is a novel about a young woman who is a writer.

Skies smile on celebrity

I guess I was best known in Michigan as a horseback rider, winning two state championships in 1966 and competing three times in the national finals. Mr. Joyce did her first film as a senior at Yale when Elia Kazan directed On the Waterfront. "East of Eden" picked her to do the lead in his film. The Visitors opened the Cannes Film Festival in 1972 and was successful in Europe, according to Mrs. Joyce. Unfortunately, the film only played a little while in the United States.

SHE ALSO has played leads in movies The Fatman Killing and Have a Nice Weekend and has done commercials, daytime TV and educational films.

Her appearance on Chico and the Man will be her second on prime time television. She will play Freddie Prince's girlfriend on the Chico and the Man episode.
