Joe Clark to speak

For shutterbugs who would like a few tips on taking pictures which led a 3079th West Farmington Parks and Recreation Photo Club will present its first guest speaker at 8 p.m. Monday at Drake House 6645 W. Maple Road.

Joe Clark, noted residence for Farmington Hills and formerly chief Detroit-area photographer for LIFE and LOOK magazines, will share his photo techniques with area photo buffs through a slide presentation.

The Photo Club has been meeting twice a month since May with a nucleus of some 20 members, said acting chairman, Rufus Weeks, also a parks commission member.

We think the coming holiday season will be a time when all of us, experienced and beginners, will be making a great deal of use of our cameras. This seemed like an excellent time for us to launch the type of programming which will help us all to get full enjoyment and skill in photography.

Clark's photography is that photography that charms, helps, and inspires. Weekly artist. He would use an excellent slide as the club's first speaker.

JOE CLARK

is known as the "Hillbilly Snapshooter". He has won many awards including Best Picture Story and Best Sports Story of the Year for photos appearing in LIFE. He is the author and photographer of 10 books including "Back Home" which is now in its seventh printing.

A University of Detroit exhibition entitled "It's Simple Things That Count" displayed 200 of his photos taken within 25 miles of his home.

Clark is presently working on a new commission for photography for seven new books, each on a different state including one on Michigan.

MONDAY MEETING is open to all persons interested in photography. Those who would like information on membership in the club can get it that evening.

The club has recently established annual dues of $5 per person. It will be holding its first election of officers at its 8 p.m. Dec. 22 meeting.

For further information, call the parks office at 629-3279.
