In Their Memory

 Lemuel A. Walker, killed in France.

Gov. Sleeper, in a proclamation, has asked the people of Michigan to fittingly honor the memory of "our great American," Theodore Roosevelt, on Sunday, February 9th, the date of the memorial of the national congress. Every city, village and community is urged to arrange suitable services.

The women in the rural communities should get into their minds that some very important questions will be on the ballots this spring aside from who shall hold office. Very few have registered. Look up your township, village or city clerk and see that your name is placed legally in the rolls. After February 15th it will be too late.

It's just impossible to please everybody, says the Lowell Ledger. For years people have been asking "Why in the blankety blank don't you stop the paper when the time is up." And now that we have complied with government orders to do that very thing, others ask, "Why in the jumping jinges did you stop my paper?" Oh, well, as David Harum said, "A certain amount of fleas is 'good for a dog,' and so it may be with the publisher and trouble.—Michigan Bulletin.

It is stated on federal authority that this year will see $300,000,000 spent on the highways of the United States. Plans for comprehensive highway systems are being made in every state. The highways in Oakland county around Oxford are sure to receive increased attention. And Michigan will not be a laggard in the contemplated road work. Now is a propitious time. For several years such main highways as we have had were permitted to be "cut up" with heavy motor truck traffic. The idea is now to have highways that will be like those the Romans put down—which will last, if not for centuries, at least for a long time.—Oxford Leader.

Twenty-one new cases of influenza were reported in Pontiac last Friday.

Herbert Booth, who recently received his discharge from the U. S. service, has moved into one of the apartments in the Irving flats. The family lived in Farmington before Mr. Booth entered the army.—Northville Record.
