

Libraries announce programs

The Farmington Hills Community Library on Twelve Mile announces its "Bookmark Contest" at the same time the two libraries begin registration for youth's spring programs.

The bookmark contest is held in observance of National Library Week, April 24, open to all area children. Official entry blanks are available now, in the children's room of both branches.

Winners of the contest will have their design produced as a bookmark.

Registration is on now for the new spring offerings:

Preschoolers are offered "Peter Rabbit Parties," "In a Spring Garden," and "Crazy Capers" at their choice of library.

In addition, in Farmington Hills, tots can sign up for "Science for Tots" or "Kid's Cooking." In Farmington, the other offering is "The Beat Goes On With Music."

FOR YOUNGSTERS in school, in Farmington Hills Library, first and second graders are offered "Science Sorcery." Third and fourth graders can "Try It!" This is a variety of activities from kite making to edible art. Fifth and sixth graders can learn new ways for sharing literature with "Storyteller's Bag of Tricks."

In the Farmington branch library, first and second graders can join "Writers in Training." Third and fourth graders are invited to help make their own "Puppet Party." Fifth and sixth graders may try their hand at ethnic crafts in a group called "Heritage Tree Bazaar."

Material fees range from 50 cents to $3. For telephone registrations, the Farmington Hills Library's number is 553-4800; Farmington Library is 474-7770.

The Curious Savage

U-M graduates

Two Farmington area students are among the graduating class from University of Michigan's Dearborn campus.

Victoria Louise Teichner, of 30227 North Stockton, earned a bachelor's degree. Frederick Allen Creighton, of 2838 Kendallwood, also received a bachelor's degree.
