Easy to care for hair: The style lasts 5 days

"Ambiance is an innovative spring hairstyle, created with long hair made to look swept up, made to look short," said area hair designer Grace Scalia.

For today's active yet fashionable woman, Ms. Scalia designed a five-day hairstyle program, guaranteed to take the tears and the tease out of your morning ritual.

After the morning of day one on your program, your hair will require, at the most, only five minutes of your time.

The suggested program considers the ease and softness of spring-summer clothing fashions which call for soft but sleeker looking hair.

"When clothes are longer and less constructed," said Ms. Scalia, "the hair must balance the silhouette and be worn to compliment the clothes. Wash and wear hair went out of fashion along with the Dorothy Hamill haircut."

Day 1: The hair is shampooed, blown dry and set on hot rollers, then brushed out for a soft, feminine look. Or, the hair may be shampooed the night before, blown dry and set in pin-curls, softly rolled for ease of sleeping, then simply brushed out the next morning.

Day 2: The hair is brushed and softly caught in the back with a barette or comb.

Day 3: The hair is knotted in the back but allows a few nape curls to escape. The head is then wrapped with a cord.

Day 4: The hair is knotted in the back and nape hairs allowed to escape but a twisted chiffon scarf is added to give more form to the wilting hair.

Day 5: Ms. Scalia's new design for summer control of the hair is brought into play. Called the "French seam," the hair is folded and pleated along the back to capture stray hairs and then knotted and held in place with a concealed comb.

Ambiance is freedom from hair care blahs.
