

Top cadet is named

Cadet Glenn Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, of Farmington has been awarded the cadet of the period at Howe Military School, Indiana.

He is a fourth year student at Howe. The award is given at the end of each six weeks' grading period and is presented to the cadet who best exemplifies the cadet corps.

LWV finalize new national program

The League of Women Voters has formulated a major two year study to evaluate urban policy options, with an emphasis on fiscal policy. The plan was adopted at the close of the 33rd biennial national convention where Mary Lazaraton represented the West Bloomfield-Farmington Area Branch.

Mrs. Lazaraton, who is president of the local league, quoted Patricia R. Harris, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, in her report to the members here.

Mrs. Harris indicated that the administration was hopeful the "initiatives provided in the new national urban policy will carry us to victory in the struggle to restore urban America," she said.

Ms. Harris emphasized the role of suburban communities when she spoke to the delegates saying that to make the initiatives work, the suburbs would have to open their doors to some degree for low income housing.

IN ANOTHER session during the convention, support for the Equal Rights Amendment was strongly reaffirmed as part of the league's overall national program.

To date, local and state leagues have already contributed $800,000 toward a million dollar chest which will be used to wage issue campaigns in unratified states.

In this behalf, each of the delegates at the convention wrote to Mayor Michael Bilandic, of Chicago, reminding him that had Illinois been a ratified state, the delegates would have spent their convention money in Chicago instead of in Cincinnati.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance opened the convention with a talk on foreign assistance. He asked the 2,000 delegates, Mrs. Lazaraton said, "to help us inform the American public why foreign aid is essential to the nation's health, political interests and preservation of its humanitarian interests."

Vance believes that the U.S. economy benefits substantially as aid dollars are sent here to buy commodities and services. He also stressed that regional stability and peace in the Middle East, Southern Africa and elsewhere cannot be achieved without the cooperation of developing nations.
