

Brandeis book sale begins soon

For the second year, the Brandeis Used Book Sale will take place at Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield. It is scheduled to open with a special preview during from 9:30 p.m. to midnight on Wednesday, Aug. 30, and will continue during mall hours through Sept. 6.

It's the place to go to find a copy of your old high school annual, back issues of Architectural Digest, a first edition of Emily Zolwig's "Napoleon" or a 50-year-old cookbook.

This year's sale will mark the 17th year that a comprehensive collection of books, records and periodicals have been offered for sale by the Greater Detroit Chapter of the National Women's Committee for Brandeis University.

Admission to the preview sale is $2.50 and advance tickets may be purchased from Brandeis volunteers at the mall, Monday-Wednesday, prior to the sale. Admission to the remainder of the sale is free.

The book sale serves a threefold purpose. It affords the public an opportunity to purchase good books at bargain prices. It recycles unsold books by donating them to schools, community groups, prisons and hospitals. Finally, proceeds from the sale support and maintain the Brandeis University libraries.

FUNDS are used for materials, staff and library operations at the non-sectarian, non-profit educational institution.

Work on the 1978 sale began last September, since processing 100,000 volumes is a year-long task. Volunteers gathered from individuals, estates and organizations books and then sorted, labeled and inventoried them at the Brandeis Book Store. The books then were priced and boxed for storage until sale time.

Though book store work is often dusty, Joyce Blum of Southfield, a Brandeis worker, said it is not without rewards. Volunteer finds range from a valuable first edition to a children's book inscribed with the name of a former playmate.

Ultimately, books will be sorted into more than 50 categories including art, biography, business and finance, history, humor, sports, hobbies, travel, science fiction and many more.

Paperback books, specialized magazines, records and sheet music also are included and will be available for purchasing.

On Sept. 6, during the final hours of the sale, phase two will begin. Letters will have been sent out to schools and public institutions inviting representatives to come to the mall with a letter of introduction. They will be free to shop for books.

Last year, a Detroit teacher enthusiastically gathered National Geographic for his social studies classes and other teachers from parochial schools selected science, mathematics and literature books for their libraries.

BOYS from a residential home chose books and records to enjoy during their leisure hours.

The unsold books are donated in bulk to a needy organization. One year it was the prison library at Milan. In 1977, the Brandeis group provided books for a community project sponsored by Detroit's Holy Trinity Church.

This year, a Bnai Brith group will distribute books to a number of worthy institutions.

Overseeing the book sale are president Shirley Weiner of Bloomfield Hills, book sale chairwoman Dorothy Kaufman of Franklin and her assistants Eleanor Roberts and Janice Schwartz of Birmingham.

Others are Lillian Mosen, Joyce Blum, Josephine Drews, Virginia Hoffman, Ilene Nemer and Barbara Kux of Southfield.

Also: Phyllis Steinberg and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kaufman of West Bloomfield; Barbara Grant of Bloomfield Hills, Susan Weisenfeld of Farmington; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klein of Detroit and De De Weinberg and Donna Pearlman of Huntington Woods.

Good news for homeowners

As a homeowner you may qualify for an EQUI-LOAN

WHAT IS AN EQUI-LOAN?

An Equi-loan is a second mortgage secured by the equity in your home. By using your home equity, you can borrow $2,500 or more with liberal repayment terms at simple interest rates.* An Equi-loan is not a remortgage, but a second mortgage; it will therefore not alter your present mortgage or its rate.

The amount of equity in your home, by the way, is the difference between its appraised value and your first mortgage (if any). This equity provides the basis for borrowing a large amount of money at established simple interest rates with the maximum amount of the loan being determined by the size of your equity.

WITH A SIMPLE INTEREST EQUI-LOAN YOU HAVE THE OPTION OF SIGNIFICANTLY REDUCING THE AMOUNT OF INTEREST YOU PAY.

The earlier you pay back a simple interest loan, the less you'll pay in interest charges. So every time you make an early payment, or an additional payment, you are actually reducing the amount of interest you pay for your loan.
