

Kennedy-Kessler Rites Held

Delores Kay Kessler and William Robert Kennedy were united in marriage recently in a double-ring ceremony in Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Detroit, by the Rev. A.W. Born officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kessler of Farmington and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kennedy of Reading, Pa.

An A-line gown of peau de sole, appliqued with lace and underlined in seed pearls, was the bride's choice. Her headpiece of lace-petals embroidered in crystals and pearls secured a floor-length veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses.

THE MATRON OF HONOR was the bride's sister, Mrs. Cynthia Ford, of Plymouth. Two cousins of the bride, Rhonda Clever of Lansing and Elaine Holzman of Fraser, were bridesmaids. The flower girl was Lynn Courlet and the ring bearer was Craig Conrad of Lansing, Michigan.

MRS. WILLIAM KENNEDY
(Delores Kessler)

All of the bride's attendants wore floor-length gowns of blue crepe with bodices of antique white lace. Their headpieces were blue petals embroidered with pearls and short blue illusion veils and they carried baskets of yellow baby mums.

JAMES ELLIOTT of Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, was best man. The ushers were Robert Kessler of Farmington, A. Michael Ford of Plymouth and Donald Clever of Lansing. The bride's mother wore a dress of peach chiffon and the bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of blue silk.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception for 110 guests was held in the Danish Club of Detroit.

After a honeymoon through Canada, the couple will live in State College, Pa. where both are doctoral candidates in psychology at Pennsylvania State University.

Hemwoods Married In St. Clare

St. Clare Catholic Church in Farmington was scene of the recent marriage of Margaret Ann Walter and David Allen Hemwood.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Walter of Chapelview Drive, Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hemwood of Detroit are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Joseph Drogowski officiated.

THE BRIDE's white satin floor-length gown had appliques of rose-pattern alencon lace with seed pearls and crystals. It also featured a cathedral train. Illusion net fashioned her veil, secured by a crystal and seed pearl crown.

Her bouquet was pink and white roses with ivy.

THE ATTENDANTS wore pink chiffon gowns with pink ribbons and moss green satin trim and headpieces of pink illusion with crystal crowns. They carried white carnations with pink ribbons and green velvet ribbons.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of early Victorian design in ivory tulle and lace, featuring a cathedral train. Her matching elbow-length veil was ivory net with beaded flowers, and she carried ivory roses.

Sharon Mashigan, the maid of honor, wore a brown and beige tulle gown dotted with Victorian gown design and made by the bride.

The bridesmaids, Toni Nagucki of Warren, Sharon Moore, of Elsie, Mich., and Barbara Lanning and Carol Lee of Detroit, wore similar gowns in beige and brown dotted silks.

All carried old-fashioned nosegays of coral roses and carnations.

Assisting the bridegroom were David Dinegrave as best man, and Larry and Gary Chapman, twin brothers of the bridegroom, and Kenneth Lee as ushers.

The bride's mother chose a dark pink and gold brocade ensemble and Mrs. Chapman selected a dress of coral crepe and lace.

The reception was held in the American Legion Hall on Beech Road, Redford Township.

Following a Florida honeymoon, the couple is living in East Lansing. Both are students at Michigan State University.

In China, many are probably the strongest of any people on earth, dating back thousands of years. One of the reasons of course is their historic of ancestors.

When a young man decides to leave his native village and go to another part of the world, it is customary for him to marry before departing. It is not necessary for him to take his wife with him because she will always be his or wife recognized for him by the village elders. And though he may marry again, as each child is born, it is registered in the village registry as an offspring of the original marriage.

The "unfading" husband must continue to send money to his local wife in the village and he must also pay a handsome fee to the registry for his official documentation of his children. Frequently he never returns, but the record of his family remains in the village of his ancestors.

Actions are great to hang on the wall, but Old traditions like the way our Brides and Grooms become efficient and capable partners — the American Way. And come to think of it, it's practical to start planning your lovely treasures — Silver, China and Crystal — now at On's Your Own Bridal Registry. We'll help you find the perfect gift for your friends in getting you off to a fine start — then with proper planning and On's dividend payment plan, if you so desire, you may have dinner for eight with all the elegance of your perfect coordinated tabletop, all most before you are properly settled.
