Canine cutties and feline furries will be among the stars on display at the 18th Annual Pet Show to be held during the Plymouth Community Fall Festival.

The event, which is co-sponsored by the Plymouth Optimist Club and the Plymouth-Canton Community Education Department, is open to children and teens who believe they have outstanding pets.

For dogs, the categories are: good grooming, best behaved, most friendly, cutest, biggest and smallest.

For cats, the categories are: cutest, best groomed, best behaved, biggest and smallest.

Kathy Hayes of Canton shows off the cat she entered in the 1978 Fall Festival Pet Show.

There's also a category for those pets that have no classification — the most unusual pet category. The divisions are: most unusual, biggest, smallest and cutest.

According to Larry Masteller, director of community education, all contestants will receive free passes to the Penn Theater in Plymouth. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

The event will begin with the dog judging at 9 a.m. on Saturday. The cat competition will follow at about 10:15 a.m. Unusual pets will be judged at about 11 a.m.

The judging will take place at the main grandstand on Penniman Ave. Registration forms will be available prior to the start of judging.

According to Masteller, some 150 dogs enter annually, as well as 100-150 cats and 50 unusual pets.

"It's a full morning," he says. "Surprising enough, the animals' behavior has been extremely good."
