

Candlemaking at Greenfield Village is one of the attractions in "Crafts at Christmas."

Center offers 'extra'

"Something extra for Christmas" is planned by The Community House in Birmingham, with interested persons invited to join a forthcoming trip to Greenfield Village for an old-fashioned holiday afternoon.

The event is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 17. Participants will board a specially chartered bus at The Community House and go to the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village for a Christmas luncheon.

Luncheon will be served in Heritage Hall at the museum, where elegant examples of period Christmas decorations will go on view.

Following luncheon, arrangements have been made for a special wreath-making demonstration.

The museum, aglow with holiday decorations, also will have "Crafts at Christmas" demonstrations for the group to watch.

Along the museum's Street of Early American Shops, craftsmen will demonstrate doll making, quilting, cookie and candle making, glass blowing, broom and toy making, woodworking and much more.

Ticket price includes luncheon, round-trip transportation and admittance fee to the museum. For further information, call The Community House, 644-5832.

Silversmith is among the craftsmen demonstrating during holiday season, in Henry Ford Museum.
