Lahser downs Andover, 62-53

"We won and that's the only positive thing I can feel about our perform-ance," said Bloomfield Hills Lahser coach Nick Conti following his team's 25-23 victory over Bloomfield Hills An-dover Tuesday in the opening round of Class A district basketball competition. "Without trying to degrade

Andover," said Conti, "we can't beat a good team playing like that.
"We had to play five months in order to get our game like that? That's ridictions. If that's the best we can do at this point, then it's going to be a short tournament for us."

Andover Coach John Maloney no-ticed that "they (Jabser) really didn't, seem to play inspired, but they shot very well."

The Knights went inside early against Andover, Scott Pritchett scoring Lahser's first six points on a free throw, a layin off a fast break and a throw, a layin off a fast break and a three-point play. Andower stayed right with the Barons, Tim Meter and Dan Bortfeld combining to offset Pritchett with six paints of their own and tying the score at 5:26. Lahser had its chances in the first quarter but failed to capitalize on on the fast break. "Their transition game in the first half was just super," Malon-eys said.

As it was, the Knights were barely able to come out of the quarter with a two point lead, 16-14. Greg Rohin started the second quarter for Andover by tying the game at 16-16 with a tip-in. But from 7:02 until 12:28, the Barons only scored once, a jumper by Bortfeld, while Labser was running up a 12-point lead, 30-18. Meter finally and Andover added four more points, cutting the Labser advantage to seven, 32-25 at the half.

High for Lahser was Scott Pritchett with 22 points followed by Shawn Santa with 20 and Rob Fodor with 13.

West Bloomfield coach John Cv

West Bloomfield coach John Cvengros needed unexpeeded help in the form of Jim Carpp and Mike Ronan to down Birmingham Seaholm Monday, 66-81, in a first round Class A district game at Seaholm.
Carpp, playing for the injured Jim Meyers at center, and Ronan, coming off the bench, gave West Bloomfield the lift they needed to defeat the stub-born Mapies.
West Bloomfield guard Tom D'Agostino also helped out as he hit numerous key baskets and wound up as through the benchmark of the seahold of the seahold with seven points and six resounds while Ronan netted 10 points in a reserve role.
"It shought Carpn took the challenge

"It thought Carpp took the challenge well," said Cvergros "He gave us a lift right at the start."
West Bloomfield shot out to 13-8 first quarter lead as D'Agostino noticed six points and Carpp three.
Seabolin had trouble fining the hoop in the first quarter as 6-6 center Ed Williams, the Maples' leading scorer of late, got into foul trouble early.
Both teams heated up in the second quarter as West Bloomfield and Seaholm each scored 18 points.

D'AGOSTINO notched six points again for the Lakers while Ronan added four.
Seabolm forward Andy Sovran hit three straight buckets in a span of two minutes to keep the Maples close at halftime, 31-26.
West Bloomfield won it with a big third quarter, outscoring the Maples, 20-13, using sound passing as their weapon.

"We had a hard time getting started offensively and we didn't get much inside," said Wright.

The Seaholm coach went with five tresh players in the second quarter trying to find the right combination.

"I PULLED MY REGULARS out for a minute or so because we weren't moving well," he said. West Bloomfield hit 27 of 46 shots from the floor for 59 percent. That in-deed was a difference in winning and losing.

"We have played better in the last few games but it has been a long strug-gle," said Wright.

Pritchett, with 14 points, and Meter, with 13, were the high scorers for the first half.
