A live stage production of "Niccolo & Nicollette," part of the Children's Show Series at The Community House in Birmingham, will be presented Saturday by AAUW Children's Theater.
Two separate performances will be offered: 1-2 p.m. and again from 3-4 p.m. at the Community House. Adult chaperones will be in attendance.
"Niccolo & Nicollette" is the story of a prince turned into a puppet by an evil

magician and his efforts to release himself from the wicked spell. Niccolo can only break that spell by traveling to his far away castle. He elicits the help of a friendly leprechaun as well as a colorful Magic Feather.

well as a colorful Magic Feather,

ONCE NICCOLO reaches the castle, he finds additional obstacles to overcome, but overcome them he does freeing himself from the spell, and the story ends on a happy note.

Under the direction of Mary Jane Rennington, the show is produced by Dee Dee Baldwin, Niccolo is played by Carma McMurphy, Nicollette by Charlene Lobb, Magus by Maria Milenkovic, Seamus by Donna Rhinehart and he Duchess by Dorothy Decker. In addition, Bugle the Footman is played by Marianeo Dierkes, the Leprechaun by Sue Genovese and the High Cockalorm by Donna Domaiske.

Tickets for the show are on sale at the Community House, Bates and Townsend.
