

Pastor Fox lauded for his work in religious education

Representatives of the Michigan District of the American Lutheran Church joined the congregation of St. John Lutheran Church in Farmington to pay tribute to Pastor Charles Fox for his work in the LEAP campaign.

LEAP stands for Lifelong Educational Action Program, a project initiated by Pastor Fox to raise money for group ministries and Capital University.

The target was set and met at $120,000 for the ministries and school, owned by the Ohio, Eastern and Michigan Districts of the church.

"LEAP will serve as the instrument to carry out the will of the district, which I believe is truly the Lord's will," said Pastor Fox.

Group Ministries is an extension of the teaching mission of the churches, set in a camping atmosphere. Through LEAP, it was possible to purchase land at Tecumseh Woods, Stony Lake and Pleasant Hill.

Capital University is a small, complex school in Beavly, Ohio, where more than 2,000 students each year seek an undergraduate liberal arts education, or professional degrees from the school of music, school of nursing, school of law and school of administration.

AT A SPECIAL service honoring Pastor Fox, Dr. Reginald Holle, Bishop of the Michigan District, led the worship services, and Robert Chapman, vice president of Capital University, was guest speaker.

Pastor Fox, and his wife, Barbara, were presented with a watercolor painting of Capital University, which was accompanied by an engraved plaque, for his LEAP efforts.

The Philadelphia Story

The cast for the Farmington Players production of "The Philadelphia Story" are Tess Schaefer (seated at left) who plays Liz Imbrie, and Julie Sessions as Tracy Lord. Behind them are David Hertzberg, John Knack and Gordon Stadler. The play opens May 4 in the Players Barn and will run for three weekends. Tickets are available by calling the box office at 477-1066.

Donations needed

Volunteers have lined up... but house plants, bedding plants, and baked goods donations are still needed for Farmington Community Center's first "Mother's Day Plant and Bake Sale."

Judy Antishin, a board member of the center, is chairwoman of the sale set to run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, May 10, in the center, 24705 Farmington Road.

Mrs. Antishin asks that all food donations be dropped off at the center on the morning of the sale, but plants will be accepted any time Wednesday, May 9.

"We would like to hear from those who will be donating to our sale," the chairman said. "Call us ahead of time, at 477-8404, so we know what donations we can expect.

Many of the plants for the sale will come from members of the Hill and Dale and Farmington Garden Clubs.

The impetus for the baked goods sale came from the center's spring registration day.

"I had half a dozen requests for my almond-butter fudge cookie recipe alone," Mrs. Antishin said. "I decided to bake some more and sell them as a fund-raiser for the center."

The committee has arranged for children to be able to shop secretly for their Mother's Day present.
