16th revisited

the hole and went on to win the PGA title.
"He hit the shot like this," Christensen said as he sent the ball high above the trees. "Then he ran quickly into the fairway to set he result, You can see my ball rippling in the water."
My limitation of Gary Player's shot had the same result as Christensen's.

WE WALKED over to the good tee shots on the left side of the fairway. Placing the pin on the left of the green maintized the amount of water to be negotiated and Christensen knocked a five iron just short of the green. Taking a three iron to insure enough distance over the pond, I attempted a similar shot, but I dubbed the ball and sent it into the water. After fishing it out, I began to wonder if the Observer & Eccentric would allow an expense account to replace the shots I could not recover.

However, Christensen burst in by saying he wanted to show me one of the more "popular" spots on the golf course.

"This is the drop area," he said, pointing to the divots taken by other golfers after they too had sent shots into the water.

Taking a suitable drop and carefully aiming my nine iron, I sent my last golf ball into the drink.

As we approached the green, Christensen generously offered to let me putt out after he chipped onto the green.

"Once you're in any of these bunkers it means you're looking at the water again," he said. "Once you're on the green, you still have problems because it has a lot of subtle rolls."

After three putts I agreed with his analysis of the green.

OAKLAND HILLS appeared in fine condition as we cut back through the south course toward the stately looking club house.

"It's a good test of golf," Christensen said. "There are a lot of hills for spectators to stand on and a lot of activity for them to watch — especially on 16."

No particular mention was made of it when the high scores of the past season were released by the Women's Instructional Bowling Congress, but the team that showed the way in the nation was Penny Behn's Express team. And it was unusual because Penny and her mates rolled the 2358 with bowling in the Men's Classic at Orchard Lanes.

For years the male howlets are made.

the Mens Classic at Orchard Lanes
For years the male bowlers argued that women had no place in men's leagues, but the showing of the Express team is proof that the old argument doesn't hold water any more.
The Express team not only topped the nation in the series count but rolled an 1138 to place fifth in the single game category. The showing now help to prove that bowling against men helps the women to keener competition and higher scores. Perhaps now there will be more of them invading the top classics.

classics.

JOIN HURLEY, the gent who rolled the large number of perfect games last season in the Men's Trio league at westland Bowl and was accused in some quarters of having favorite lanes, answered his critics last veek in the Michigan Majors Tournament at Sun-other 300 and landed ninth place in the final standings.

Meanwhile another bowler from westland captured top place when Bob Jawor outbowled Mitch Jabezenski in the final match, 234 to 215.

Needing a strike in the final frame of the last game, Bob calmly walked to the line and got it. Bob averaged 228 for 12 games and won 10 of his matches. It was the first time that Jawor won not of these monthly battles, the next of which will be held at Super Bowl in Canton Township from August 18-19.1

SYLVIA WENDE MARTIN, the stocky

SYLVIA WENE MARTIN, the stocky little woman from Philadelphia who moved to center stage in the national bowling picture when Marion Ladewig departed and is well known in the Detroit area, recently was paid a high honor.

She is one of the 18 persons, 17 of them men, to be named to the Jewish Hall of Farne. The induction ceremo-nies were held in Los Angeles. The new Hall will be built in Natanya, in Israel and will be dedicated in 1981.

THE CLOSEST match of the entire summer season was bowled last week at Wonderland Lanes when Rick Gephart beat Don Trotter by a single pin. Rick put together games of 178, 237 and 187 for 800 while Don, bowling on the same pair, linked counts of 174, 258 and 190 for 599.

There are a faw openings in the Senior House League at Wonderland for creams with a 950 average. This is one of the best loops in the area and the openings may be filled if you don't act quickly.

MIKE LEE used a big 246 game to MIKE LEE used a big 246 game to gain top honors in the Thursday classic at Westland with a 675. His closest ri-val was Al Nicora who posted a 682. Then, in order, came Rick, Clack with 684, Fred Briscoe with 644 and Bob Rose with 644. Jane Martin was high among the women with a 202 [p 584, it was one of her best showings of the season.

BETTY WOONSTOCK got away to a flying start with a 234 opener and then paced the women in the Ladles Foursome at Woodland Lanes with a 562. See Schueher landed second with 541 and Doris Kopke had the most consistent bowling when she posted two games of 179 and then closed with 171 for 524, good enough for third place.

TONY CLAFTON was the big gun in the 24-team Trio League at Bel-Aire when he rolled the high single with a 266. Close behind was Bob Adams with 237 and Denny Feloni with 235.

IN THE MONDAY league at Super Bowl, Gerry Kelts rolled games of 158, 221 and 169 for 548, gaining top honors. Mary Bodnar had a 223 for high single.

Supreme Siding still tops

Supreme Siding ramained atop the West Bloomfield Community Education Division I Men's Softball League by edging Big Brake Auto (11-8) and reallying to deteal Prince of Peace (19-12) in recent games.

In the Big Brake victory, Carl Childress smacked two triples and drove in three runs. Dues Preed went three for three with a double and a triple, and three runs (16-7) after three longings. Determine stalled upptart Peace by three runs (16-7) after three lundings. But the timers scored seven runs in the fourth and five more in the sixth.

Peterson Glass remained within striking distance by whipping Audette Cadillac, 23-9. In a high-litting right for Peterson, Kyle Krupsky, Bob Mason, John Allen and Greg White each went three for three. Greg White and Doug Kallgren provided the power, each hitting a two-run homer.

In Men's Division II play, Steve Larsen with two hits and three RBis to help Carmen's clinch the league title with a 7-4 victory over Packet Pondac.
