There are "old" days and "old" days. When it comes to a wedding held in the manner of the "old days" of early unadorned Puritan America, it is questionable if we would turn back the clock even if we could!

Since the Puritans were in rebellion against the Church of England, it was decreed by law that the marriage had to be performed by a civil magistrate. This black ceremony took place "late" in the afternoon - was followed by a pious meal - and a curfew at 9:00 p.m. This was not always enforced, as permission could be secured for a torchlight parade to escort the couple to their new home, plus other high jinks.

The job-minded young bride was expected to select the text for the next church service after the wedding. Just before the sermon began, she and the groom had to stand up - and turn around seven times - so that the congregation could see them!

Orin Jewelers, in the modern spirit, feels that beauty is a virtue - and that grace and elegance should be a part of the Marriage ceremony. And so with this in mind, we offer the bride-to-be a wide choice in our patterns of Silver, China and Crystal. For her friends, who wish to give a gift with a special touch of luxury, we invite them to consider a silver pitcher, or a large footed casserole, or a two-tiered cake!

Try Orin Jewelers' other services for the Bride. We shall be glad to advise you on your engraved announcements and invitations. We have our Gift Registry which will record your patterns and be of use in helping your friends complete your table needs. For the reception, we have punch bowl sets, coffee services, trays and candelabra which the Bride may use without charge.

Couple Married By Candlelight

Carol Diane Wheeler and Gary John Wolf were united in marriage in a Dec. 6 candlelight ceremony in Redford Presbyterian Church, Detroit.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Wheeler of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf of Birmingham are parents of the bridegroom.

Cameo ivory peau de sole and aliencon lace fashioned the bride's empire gown. Lace trimmed the high neckline and long sleeves and formed scalloping at the hem.

AN OPEN CROWN CAP of lace petals held the bride's illusion veil, and she carried white sweetheart roses and stephanotis and ivy.

Nancy Wheeler was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Patricia Wheeler, Cathy Van Horn and Janice Walsh.

THEY WORE red velvet dresses with ivory lace bodices and carried nosegays of red sweetheart roses.

Assisting the bridegroom were Michael Gardner as best man and William Hall, Lawrence Van Ameyde and Timothy Rourke as ushers.

The reception was held in Oakland Hills Country Club. The couple went to the Bahamas for the honeymoon.
