Faul's Affect of the His Life.

Faul's Affect (21.124)

The lummediate occasion of this was his effort to remove the prejudice which certain ones held against him. His reception by representatives of the church was most cordial. In order that all the brethren in Jerusalem might graciously receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish voy to prove that he was in no way oplosed to the law. They recognized that such an act would in no way corpromise or involve the Gentile brethren. As to how far this act conditated the Jews we are not told, but it only crarged the unbelleving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These unaddened Jews, on the busis of a supposition, selzed him and drugged him from the temple and beat him merclessly, tending to pur him to death. The law is the condition of the captain was rescued from the ample. Fact of the people. When he addressed him is Greek and quoted his Roman citizenship, the captain granted his request.

11, Paul's Defense (22:1:27).

1. His claim for a rightful hearing (vs. 1:3). (1) His birth (v. 3). He was a Jew born in Tarsus, a city of no mean reputation. (2) His education (v. 3). He was educated in school under the tutorship of Gamaile, and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the fathers" (v. 3). His zeal (v. 3). He was as zealous toward God as those Jews who were trying to destroy him.

2. His attitude toward Jesus (vv. 4. 5). "I persecuted this way unto the death"—It was one of hatred, as was that of the Jews.

3. How his attitude was changed (vv. 6:10). It was brought about by the intervention of God.

4. The Lord commissioned him to go to the Gentiles (vv. 17:21). It was not of his own will that he preached to the Gentiles (vv. 17:21). It was not of his own will that he preached to the Gentiles, but by the Lord's direct commission.
