COW TESTING IS NECESSARY

Wisconsin Farmer Makes Concise Report of His Experience to the Dairy Division.

What the cow-testing work has meant to one Wisconsin farmer was stated so simply and concisely in a report to an agent of the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture, that it is worth passing along. This farmer says:

"The cow-testing in the west section of Outagamie county has been carried on with marked success. We have become better acquainted. The man who has been taking good care of his cows has also become better known."

"We have learned to know our cows not by what they seemed but by what they actually are, to understand the necessity of selecting better calves from our best cows to be raised for our future herd."

"We have learned to look on the dairy cow not as a necessary part of our personal property but a real live machine, capable of returning values received plus, and that plus depending largely upon the care, feed, and breeding of the dairy cow."

STERILIZATION IS ESSENTIAL

All Pails, Strainers, Separator Parts, Etc., Should Be Sterilized for Five Minutes.

Milk will keep better and make better products if all pails, strainers, and separator parts are sterilized, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Use live steam for five minutes. If you cannot get live steam, boil all utensils for at least five minutes. A simple steam sterilizer for dairy utensils, which can be made by a local tinsmith, is described in Farmers' Bulletin 748, "A Simple Steam Sterilizer for Farm Dairy Utensils." The bulletin may be had on application to the department.

Easy Either Way.

"It is the easiest thing in the world for a man to play a violin," says a magazine writer. The easiest thing in the world is for a man to play the perfect fool. Anybody who's had experience knows that.—Houston Post.

Let's Go!

OUR country is looking forward to the future with a feeling of great confidence. Courage and determination have already carried us over the rough spots.

Business today finds itself emerging from a period wherein conditions were wholly unfamiliar. Confronted with new conditions, new standards, new methods, the faith of our people in our country will only serve to help us build the better.

The country is sound and our banking system has demonstrated its worth. Fear of disaster is past. Now is the time to forge ahead and increase the demand for the country's products. Let's go!
