

Got what he wanted

You remember in the old Arabian Nights tales, how Aladdin got everything he wanted by simply rubbing his magic lamp. That was quite a snap. But after all, that was a long time ago and pretty much of a fairy tale at best. There are no Aladdin Lamps on the market these days. If there were they would soon be bought and rubbed into holes by the average owner. The nearest one can come to Aladdin's soft snap is to have an account at a good, reliable Bank like ours. Then rub your pen on one of our check books and presto! you get what you want. Not such an easy thing as Aladdin had, but more reliable.
