

The Thrifty Plan

How do you regard the interest payments you receive from your Liberty Bonds and other bonds or investments?

—Simply as so much extra spending money?

—Or, as additional capital with which to further increase your principal and income?

The thrifty plan is to deposit this money in your savings account until you have enough for additional investment; in the meantime earning compound interest on it and still further increasing your capital.

Savings Accounts opened for $1 or more with interest compounded semi-annually at 4 Per Cent
