

Woodwork Adds Charm

Half the charm of an older home is its detailed woodwork. But, when redecorating, how can you team old painted moldings with a new wall covering of panel boards which are finished natural to reduce upkeep? The answer is simple — just leave the woodwork painted. But instead of the traditional white, repaint moldings using the room's leading upholstery color. Teamed with clear-finished pine, hemlock or cedar paneling, colored moldings can be terrific.

Signals In Space Vibrating

Two graduate students using the University of Michigan's radio telescope have found variations in the radio signals from two objects deep in space.

Mark A. Stull of East Northwalk, Conn., told fellow scientists of variations in emissions from a radio galaxy not previously known to change its signals. E.T. Olsen of Orlando, Fla., told of major "explosions" or variations in another cosmic source.

Researcher Stull explained that galaxies whose radio emission changes with time are rare and therefore of great interest to astronomers. There are only two radio galaxies for which large percentage changes in radio flux have been observed, although several others have been reported with less definite fluctuations.

Stull said the two previously known radio galaxies which show large changes belong to the small class known as Seyfert galaxies. These are distinguished by their blue color and the presence of strong optical emission lines. The radio variations are believed to result from explosions of incredible violence occurring in their central nuclei.

The new variable, he said, is known as Parkes 0048-09. Between November 1968 and November 1969 three major changes in its radio flux were observed. Since the source is very faint (16.5 magnitudes) when viewed with an optical telescope, it is not known what kind of galaxy it is. Observations of it at several frequencies indicate that this galaxy is one of the youngest known radio galaxies.

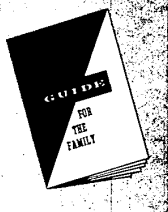

Olsen reported on four large variations in intensity and polarization in BL Lacertiae, during which the amount of energy radiated by this object increased by nearly 50% and then fell back all within one month. Such studies, he said, may lead to better understanding of the nature and development of quasars and radio galaxies.

Panels Cover Problem Walls

Older homes are frequently an excellent buy for the young, growing family, but almost always they require extensive redecorating.

Old plastered walls that are cracked, bulging or out of plumb are a special problem. Many interior designers recommend simply covering them up with an entirely new wall surface of lumber paneling.

THE JOB is relatively simple. For vertical paneling, three furring strips, usually 1x2-inch pieces, are mounted over the existing wall one at the top, one centered and one just above the base shoe. The furring strips are screwed through the plaster and into the wall studs behind.

Tongue and groove boards are blind-nailed to the furring strips, with the nail set through the board's tongue. Each board is plumbed separately, using the tongue- and-groove for adjustment.
