Saturday evening last a farewell party was given for Sylvester A. Kohlman at his mother's home. He left Monday for his ship, the U. S. S. Laid, stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. A very pleasant evening was spent with games and a nice lunch was served.

On account of Christmas Day falling on the day of the usual weekly motion picture program at the Methodist community hall, the picture will be shown on Friday night, the 28th. "Bringing Up Betty" will be the feature picture which is a sweet story of love and romance.

Mrs. Frank Bradley attended the "Pageant of the City" given by about 300 students of Cass High school at the school auditorium on Thursday evening, Dec. 13th. This pageant was a musical pantomime in three episodes, representing allegorically the founding, settlement and development of Detroit and concluding with symbolic union of education and industry, typifying the place of Cass Technical High school in the growth of the city.

On Christmas Eve the regular Christmas exercises will be held at the Methodist church which will take the form of a beautiful pageant called, "The Meaning of the Manger." The scenes present the impressive features of the birth of Christ with interesting modern applications. The music of the pageant will be as interesting as its dramatic phases. Effective lighting and other features will combine in making a most interesting program. The exercises will begin at 7:30. No admission charge will be made. Bishop and Mrs. Theodore S. Henderson will be present to witness the pageant.

MADE AN OLD POWER SYMBOL

Has Never Failed to Restore Order in the House of Representatives.

In the chamber of the house of representatives at Washington stands an vivid reminder of parliamentary customs of the Middle Ages. It is the mace, which is borne into the chamber just before a sitting of the house begins and which must invariably stand upright on its marble pedestal at the right of the speaker while the house is in session.

When the house goes into committee of the whole and the speaker leaves the chair to be succeeded by the chairman of the committee, the mace is lowered. In case the committee meeting is interrupted by the arrival of a message from the President, the house cannot legally sit again until the mace is elevated.

When any serious disorder occurs in the house the speaker directs the sergeant-at-arms to quell it. This official then takes the mace from its pedestal and advances with it before him toward the offending legislators. As a symbol of dignity and power it has never failed to bring quarrelsome members to their senses, reminding them of the responsibilities of lawmakers.

The mace is a bundle of ebony rods bound with silver bands and surmounted with a large silver globe on which rests an eagle with wings outstretched. It is similar to the fasces of ancient Rome, from which the Italian fascists take their name.

NEW YORK COMMANDER LEAVES STATE POLICE

Lieutenant-Colonel George F. Chandler, who organized the New York State Police in 1917, has resigned his post in order to resume his practice as a surgeon. He had served under both Republican and Democratic administrations.

Well known as one of the most successful surgeons in the East Dr. Chandler had made a great success as a police commander. He used the same scientific methods in dealing with crime that he would have used in diagnosing disease. It was his theory that crime is largely due to mental disease of one form or another.

The New York State Police was increased this year from four to six troops. It was organized at about the same time as the Michigan State Police.

New Year Resolution

"I will buy a choice piece of real estate in or near Farmington."

The Reason

I know that Detroit's suburban development is still in its infancy and that Farmington is one of Detroit's most ideally located suburbs, therefore, land values are sure to go up--probably above our wildest dreams.
