

New UF Program Benefits Youth Of Western Wayne

Youths from Westland, as well as Inkster and Wayne, are beneficiaries this summer of a special summer program tailored to their needs by Neighborhood Service Organization of Western Wayne, a Torch Drive service.

Patterned after NSO's Youth Service Corps in Detroit, the program for 14 and 15-year-olds provides work experience, vocational guidance, counseling, supervised recreation and educational activities.

The youths referred to NSO's Western Wayne office at 20168 Liberty Ave., Inkster, are working 20 hours weekly assisting police with many important, but time-consuming, routine jobs.

THESE TASKS include checking abandoned cars, investigating vacant lots and buildings, and reporting any evidence of vandalism.

The program is one of many made possible by a United Foundation grant of $600,000 for additional summer opportunities.

Planned by United Community Services (U.C.S.), the programs involve the cooperation of established agencies, both voluntary and private, churches and some 47 neighborhood groups.

THE U.C.S. grant is helping provide 14,000 youngsters find useful employment, making campships available to 2,542 needy children and providing professional treatment services to 1,530 troubled youths, delinquents and school dropouts.

Administered by UCS, planning and budgeting federation for local Torch Drive services, the summer programs were planned in cooperation with the New Detroit Committee, the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation, the Youth Opportunity Council and voluntary agencies.

POLICE HELPER — Bobby Joe Rich, 15, of 455 Linville, Westland, is among a group of youths gaining experience in police work through the Youth Service Corps organized by the Neighborhood Service Organization of Western Wayne. He is assisting Marge Garth of 8336 Perrin, Westland, detective bureau secretary for the Westland Police.
