

Carrier of the Month Farmington

Ken Kollar

August's Carrier of the Month for the Farmington Observer is Ken Kollar, son of George and Dorothy Kollar of Farmington. He is the brother of Ron and Andy Kollar.

Ken, who will be a 10th grade student this fall at Farmington High School, enjoys mathematics and maintains a B average. He plans to attend University of Michigan after high school graduation.

In his spare time, Ken enjoys collecting baseball cards.

Never, Tisco & Hinds of Farmington Hills have made three appointments in a business expansion move.

NT&H is a consulting engineering firm specializing in geotechnical engineering — the testing and inspection of earth materials and construction materials evaluation.

Michael Mather of Center Line will be a roofing consultant. Fernando Souto of Farmington Hills has been named a project manager. Wayne Bergstrom, also of Farmington Hills, has joined the firm.

Mather holds a bachelor's degree in architecture from Lawrence Institute of Technology. He also is a faculty member of the Roofing Industry Educational Institute in Denver.

Souto will be responsible for the planning and coordination of sub-area investigations, field and laboratory testing and construction control. He has a bachelor's of civil engineering from Newark College of Engineering in New Jersey.

Bergstrom, formerly with the United States Army Engineer District in St. Louis, is responsible for actual on-site earthwork operations including soil investigations and evaluation and laboratory testing.

PhotoVenture workshop set

PhotoVenture, a touring school of photography, offers a workshop in Toronto Sept. 26-28 with tour guides and instructors Monte Nagler and Terry Luke.

Photographic sites are planned in Toronto City Hall, Eaton Center, St. Lawrence Hall, Ontario Place, the Metro Zoo and some city parks.

Participants will attend lectures, sit in on a slide show, and participate in group discussions and photography-taking sessions where the emphasis is on personal assistance directed toward the individual's level of experience. Discussions include cameras, lenses, film, exposure, depth of field, motion, close-up photography, composition and lighting.

Both guides for the Toronto trip are award-winning photographers. Workshop price is $44. PhotoVenture will assist in providing accommodations and transportation for workshop participants.

Interested parties are invited to make inquiries or reservations with Hunts Travel, 399-3434.

Other workshops in the offering is one on hot air balloon photography; another on fashion photography.
