

Helping hands

Everybody in the Morningside Branch of the Lathrup Village Farm and Garden Association gets into the act of preparing for its Nov. 12 boutique. The event, open to the public, will take place at the Lathrup Village Municipal Building, 27400 Southfield Road. Shown working on handcrafted items are Shirley Sharpe, Mildred Caddell, Jeannette Wynn and Addie Turnage. Cones, wreaths, candy cane soaps, floral arrangements and many other seasonal items will be on sale.

Josh White Jr., friends, to perform for Sundial

An evening of entertainment with Josh White Jr. and Friends will benefit Sundial Center of Detroit.

The benefit is planned for 8 p.m. Nov. 15 in the studios of LTI Productions, 22530 8 Mile in Southfield. Tickets are $25 per person and $35 per couple, tax exempt.

Sundial is a center for individual and organizational development. The organization's professional resources include educators, media communicators, business analysts, social service specialists, medical and legal experts and creative artisans.

The primary thrust of Sundial's programming is through the mass communication vehicles of public, cable subscription and network broadcasting.

Refreshments will be served at the Nov. 15 event. Tickets can be ordered through Sundial Center, 681 Merton Ave. No. 1, Detroit, Mich. 48203. Checks should be payable to Sundial Center.
