This film from the Frederick Knott play is one of filtcheock's more compli-cated machinations. Usually the plots of his films are diabolically simple and the master of suspense is better off when working with less-complex mate-rial.

cess, "Murder" was not reteased in or-util last year. It played to standing-room-only crowds in New York for weeks, and critics said that Hitchcock had done more with the 3-D process than had any other director. Ray Milland, Grace Kelly and Bob Cummings star. Unrated.

starred in this movie from the Raymond Chandler novel. Read the novel, skip the movie. The entire picture is filmed in the first-person style, meaning that our vantage point is the same as the protagonists. The only time we see Montinerry's face is when he (and we) look in the mirror. The technique is workable for a few choice minutes, but over an hour and a half it's nothing but tedious. Ratino. $51.00. ous. Rating: $1.10.

"Here Come the Nelsons" (1952), 11:30 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 78 minutes. Ozzie and Harriet, David and the irrepressible Ricky Nelson somehowind up as cowpokes chasing the bad guys. You'd never guess how they finally coral the desperadoes, either. Overall, an enjoyable film, largely because Rick wasn't old enough to sing yet. Rating: $2.40.
