Bride Designs Wedding Gown

Patricia Anne Shinavier of Lincoln Park designed the gold and pearl encrusted wedding gown she wore when she spoke her nuptial vows to Douglas Morris Kosley of Farmington Feb. 6.

The bride also designed her attendants' costumes, and her mother sewed the bridal gown and that of the maid of honor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Shinavier of Lincoln Park and Dr. and Mrs. Milton Kosley of Spring Valley Drive, Farmington.

THE EVENING CEREMONY took place in St. Henry Catholic Church in Lincoln Park, with the Rev. James Miller of Detroit, Texas, uncle of the bride, officiating. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bridal gown of candlelight slipper satin had gold and seed pearl braid banding the high collar, yoke and sleeves. A band of braid also edged the pillow headpiece that held her illusion veil, and she carried wild flowers in variegated shades.

The varied shades were repeated in the print jumper gowns worn with white satin full-sleeved blouses by her attendants.

Mrs. Kenneth Chiara of Farmington was matron of honor and wore a jumper printed in shades of blue, purple and green. An identical print in shades of gold, orange, yellow and green was used for the dresses of the bridesmaids, Beth and Mary Shinavier and Kathy Kosley, sisters of the bride.

Miss Bruce Is Bride

Jean Marie Bruce and Martin Katon exchanged marriage vows recently in a ceremony in California.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Wilson Bruce of Plymouth and the late Mr. Wilson.

DAVID SHABERLY of Westland was best man and the ushers were John Shinavier, Larry Burke, Peter Erickson and Bill Baer. Peter Locke, cousin of the bride, was altar boy.

Mrs. Shinavier wore an antique gold velvet jacket dress with mink trim and Mrs. Kosley's costume was a baby blue crepe dress with a purple mink-trim.

After a reception for 250 in the Piemanese Club in Detroit, the couple left on a northern Michigan skiing honeymoon. They will live in Detroit.

The new Mrs. Kosley is a stenographer employed by Firestone in Lincoln Park and her husband, an Olivet College graduate, teaches science at Murray Wright High School, Detroit.

Newlyweds Will Live In Ypsilanti

Recently-married Mr. and Mrs. Michael S. Ross are making their home in Ypsilanti following their wedding in the Newburg Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Ritter officiated for the double-ring candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Ross is the former Dianna May Pry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pry of Plymouth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross of Plymouth.

GIVEN BY her father in marriage, the bride wore an A-line gown of ivory peau de sole with jeweled trim at the neckline and wrists. Her floor-length mantilla veil, ivory Korean lace and a jeweled headpiece held it in place. Yellow tea roses surrounded by mums fashioned the bridal bouquet.

Four bridal attendants wore gowns with ivory crepe bodices and green velvet skirts. Their headpieces were green velvet bows, and they carried single red roses.

Ann Carraker of Kalamazoo was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Joy Cornins of Kalamazoo, Karen Rozelle of Muskegon and Jill Foreman of Livonia.

ASSISTING the bridegroom were Wayne Bell of Vermont as best man and Bill Rahfield of Chicago. John Williams of Florida and Tom Pry, brother of the bride, as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pry chose a silver gray knit ensemble. Mrs. Ross' costume was chocolate brown.

The dinner reception for 140 was held in the VFW hall in Plymouth.

The new Mrs. Ross is a recent graduate of Western Michigan University and plans to teach in the Ypsilanti area while her husband, a graduate of the University of Miami, works on a teaching fellowship at Eastern Michigan University.

GLORIA GORSHAK

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Gorshak of Vargo Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gloria Joyce, to Alfred W. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jones of Detroit. The bride-elect graduated from Bentley High School and attended Schoolcraft Community College. She is employed as a secretary of the Ford Motor Co. Her fiancé attends Detroit College of Business, where he is affiliated with Phi Theta Pi Fraternity, and is employed as a computer operator by Ex-Cell-O Corp. They plan to be married Sept. 12.
