

Churches should wage peace, not war

The headline hit me between the eyes: "Churches are failing us by not working for peace." The words haunted me because I know they are all too true.

The image that prompted this statement by Sidney Harris was a photograph of a soldier in Lebanon with a picture of the Virgin Mary on the stock of his rifle.

I recall the words of an organizer of the Christian Peace Conference in Prague just after World War II. He said, "For too long Christians have supported their countries going to war. It is time for Christians to support their countries' efforts for peace."

Rev. David Strong

Many religious people are becoming aware that it is a special concern of religion to preserve and enhance life. They may focus upon anti-abortion. They may work for wilderness preservation. This theme is as ancient as the Biblical story of Joseph who decides, "God has sent me before you to preserve life." Such can be the motto for many of these religious concerns.

PEACE IS TOO often an elusive quality. It seems that the ordinary citizen has little impact upon the decisions that affect peace. This peace worker. Too often the church rejects those who would risk effective action which stirs controversy.

THE CHURCHES and synagogues are failing us by not working for peace. It is a sad truth of our time. Yet I never lose hope. The witness of all the significant saints and of scripture is a constant thread of a requirement to love our enemy to bring reconciliation and peace.

We know now through the study of the stages of moral development that concern for universal peace is the most advanced stage of morality.

Many still live on the basis of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. But we have to believe that the human race is maturing spiritually or we would easily give up any struggle for reconciliation and peace.

It is never too late. It is up to each of us.

The cause is the preservation of life on our planet. This is not a task which can be carried out by the heroic, forceful, macho person. It is the task that is most often carried out by the young mothers, the little old ladies, the preachers and fathers who fear for their children's future in a world bent on madness.

Those who work for peace are not honored or given positions of importance. Most often those who have gained positions of importance fear to work at this task. I have watched how the churches function. They do not honor the

volunteers

The Oakland County Volunteer Bureau, a program of the Volunteer Action Center of United Community Services, has weekly listings of volunteer opportunities. Further information about these and other volunteer needs at over 200 agencies may be obtained by calling the bureau at 642-7272. Any non-profit or organization needing volunteer assistance may also call the bureau.

ACTIVITY AIDES — The Redford Geriatric Village in Detroit needs helpers for its weekly arts and crafts sessions and Friday afternoon bingo games. Those who play the piano or other musical instrument could entertain at birthday parties or monthly sing-alongs. The time commitment is flexible.

CLERICAL HELP — Volunteers with accurate typing skills are needed by the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council in Troy to type and answer the phone. One half-day per week is the minimum requirement.

DAY CAMP COUNSELORS — Camp Fire Girls of North Oakland needs volunteers over 18 to train as recreation counselors for day camp at I-75 and Sashabaw Road. The camp runs six hours daily until late August.

DRIVERS — The Royal Oak Senior Citizens Center needs drivers to deliver meals to the home-bound, and to take seniors on errands or to the doctor. As little as one hour per week is involved.
