

Markowitz-Kushner

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Markowitz of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter Lori Jo to Joel Lawrence Kushner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kushner of Southfield.

The bride-to-be is a student at University of Detroit School of Dental Hygiene. Her fiancé is an accounting student at Wayne State University.

No wedding date has been set.

Dixon-Ogden

Karen Sue Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ogden of Ellen Drive, Livonia, became the bride of Richard Neal Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Dixon of Diamond Avenue, Troy, in a ceremony July 11 in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church of Livonia.

The Rev. Robert Armstrong officiated.

For the ceremony and Botford Inn Coach House reception, the bride wore an old-fashioned ivory lace dress and matching hat. She carried a lace fan covered with silk flowers.

Her attendants, Norma Wolford, Vivian Steinilper, Barbara Schmatz and Ann Marie Dixon, wore apricot dresses with lace yokes. They also wore hats and carried fans with silk flowers.

The men in the wedding party, Bob Marcinek, Bill Baucht, Marty Witney, Steve Ogden and Michael Ogden, wore charcoal gray strollers.

The couple went on a honeymoon cruise to the Virgin Islands. They will live at Maple Shade, N.J., where the new Mrs. Dixon is a merchandising representative for a tobacco and candy distributor and her husband is in customer relations with American Honda Motor Co.

Now for happily ever after

It's got to be incredible luck and an assist from Up There to have a wedding go well when:

- Your daughter the bride is making ready while commuting from her university base and working two jobs;
- Your daughter the minister is tooling in from the east coast in a Valiant of 1971 vintage;
- Your daughter the bridesmaid is nearly eight months' pregnant, and;
- Your daughter the airman, also a bridesmaid, is flying in from her base at Washington the night before the wedding.

But all of those factors worked out for our big day. Besides that:

- A pattern that looked pretty unlikely in construction stages led five different seamstresses to five pretty dresses for five attendants;
- The road construction on the route to the church ended just in time;
- The bridegroom's brother arrived by air on schedule and even later than our daughter to assume his role as usher;
- My 92-year-old aunt was on hand to enjoy the event, thanks to yeoman service of our son-in-law and my brother, and;
- Talented friends provided with perfect timing the bride's hairdo, wedding flowers and music, a fine reception and even quantities of salad for the gathering afterwards.

Really, the only thing that went wrong was that the bride forgot her bouquet on the way out after the ceremony.

That presented no problem: I'm used to following after with things she has forgotten.

Despite a bit of solemnity on the part of the father of the bride, a discreet tear or two on the part of the mother of the bride and some audible sniffing by a sister of the bride, it can safely be said the family of the bride had a ball.

But we're agreed we won't mind waiting a while for the next wedding.

Jill Humphries and William R. Jordan were married June 20 in Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross G. Humphries of Farmington Hills and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan of Lathrup Village.

The bride was gowned in silk organza fashioned with Queen Anne neckline, trimmed with Venice lace, pearls and crystal.

Both are graduates of Stevenson High School, the bride-to-be in 1980 and her fiancé in 1977. She works in a Livonia dental office and he is employed by the Ford Motor Co.

They will exchange vows in an Aug. 22 ceremony at Mercy College of Detroit.

Williams-Miller

The bride's sister officiated for the marriage of Katherine Irene Miller to Paul Harrison Williams on Aug. 1 in Newburg United Methodist Church of Livonia.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Miller of Novi and formerly of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harry Williams of Warner Street, Farmington. Hearing the vows was the Rev. Mary Miller, a student at the Boston University school of theology. A reception in the church's fellowship hall followed the late morning ceremony.

The bride wore a white cotton lace dress with high neckline and long, full sleeves. She wore baby's breath in her hair and carried white and yellow roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Her attendants' pastel green dresses were street length with two-tier skirts and capelets.

Betty Bassman, maid of honor, carried yellow roses, and the bridesmaids, Barbara Staniszcwski, Ann Miller, Kathy Kloko and Kim Riordan, had white roses.

Dean Morier was best man and Robert Williams, Douglas Williams, Ed Sasamoto and Tom Hajdak seated the guests.

The couple will live at East Lansing, where both have teaching assistantships at Michigan State University, the new Mrs. Williams in communications and her husband in math. She is a 1981 graduate of MSU and he graduated from Hope College in 1980. Both are graduates of Farmington High School.
