

Bandsmen Think 'I' At C'ville

There's a big sign on the band room door at Clarenceville Junior High. It reads: "Think I." Apparently the bandsmen did think "one" because both junior high bands—concert and cadet—received Division I ratings at the Southwestern Michigan District Band Festival held last Saturday in Saline.

Ted Mallres, band director, said each band received all Division I ratings from the four judges giving them a total of eight Division I ratings. As its selected numbers, the concert band played "Zouaves March" and "Quartz Mountain Overture." Its required number was "Kentucky 1800." Selected numbers for the cadet band were "Make Way for Melody" and "Evangeline Overture." The required number was "Balladair."

Western Michigan University. Bullock was the sightreading judge.

This year marked the first the cadet band entered competition. It is comprised mainly of seventh graders while the concert band, although with some seventh graders, is made up mostly of eighth graders.

ROBERT T. BENEFIEL of Livonia has been named Madonna College's director of college relations and developing fundraising activities. He has bachelor's and master's degrees in economics from the University of Detroit.
